Varanasi capital

Priyank: Cong will move HC against anti-conversion Bill

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state Congress is planning to legally challenge the Karnataka Protection of Right to Freedom of Religion Bill, 2022, also known as the Anti-Conversion Bill, which was passed in the Council on Thursday.

Former Minister and KPCC Communication Wing chief Priyank Kharge said the legal cell of the Congress will move the Karnataka HC against the new law. "If the Congress party comes to power in Karnataka, it will repeal all the unconstitutional laws including the anti-conversion and anti-cow slaughter laws through legislations", he said.

"The government has attributed the enactment of the law to forced conversions but it has not presented any statistics to support its stand. Bommai's cabinet colleague Govind Karjol, who held the Social Welfare Department portfolio six months ago, himself had said that the government had no details on the issue", he said. "The law department brought the Bill ignoring the fact that many courts have issued stay orders. It is to divert the attention of the people from the burning issues of the state which includes corruption", he alleged.

"We have raised concern over the legality of the Bill. They (BJP) are saying the Bills passed by governments of Gujarat, Uttar Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh have been replicated here. But all those Bills have been stayed by the respective HCs and some in the Supreme Court. It is a clear violation of the SC order in Hadiya case (2017-18) over the right to profess and practice religion," he added.

Not the time for war: Modi to Putin

Holds bilaterals with Russia, Iran, Uzbekistan and Turkey; no talks with China's Xi Jinping

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

ON a day India took charge of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation's (SCO) Presidency at Samarkand in Uzbekistan, Prime Minister Narendra Modi pressed Russian President Vladimir Putin at their bilateral meeting on Friday to end the Ukraine conflict, saying, "Today's era is not of war."

In response, Putin said, "I know your position on the conflict in Ukraine, your concerns you constantly express. We will do our best to stop this as soon as possible." Putin also pointed to the growing export of Russian fertilizers to India. "Deliveries of fertilizers from Russia to India have increased by more than eight times," he added.

"I also know tomorrow is your birthday, dear friend. But in Russian tradition we do not wish in advance but I want you to know we remember this," Putin told Modi who rings in his 72nd birthday on Saturday.

Modi also held bilateral talks with Iran, Uzbekistan and Turkey. In his bilateral with Iran, Modi and President Ebrahim Raisi assessed the progress in trade and discussed energy ties as also trade through the Chabahar port where India is heavily invested.

One of Modi's surprise meetings was with Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan. The two leaders spoke about bilateral trade enhancement of commercial linkages.

There was no interaction with China though its President Xi Jinping said, "We will support India during its Presidency of SCO."

"All the meetings that were scheduled did take place," said Foreign Secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra.

Modi announced Varanasi as the first-ever SCO tourist and cultural capital for the grouping for 2022-23. During the course of India's Presidency, many cultural events will be organised in Varanasi by SCO.

A joint declaration at the end of the summit said the grouping aimed to prepare a single list of terrorist, separatist and extremist outfits whose activities are banned on the territories of the member states, with an aim to counter threats posed by them to the region. P14

Amarinder to become a BJP neta on Sept 19

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

FORMER Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh is all set to join the BJP on September 19 in New Delhi. He will also merge his Punjab Lok Congress with the BJP. This newspaper was the first to break the news on June 30 this year that Amarinder will join the BJP.

His meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, exactly a month back on August 19 this year, paved the way for his induction into the BJP. The two leaders discussed ways to strengthen the BJP in Punjab. Singh met home minister Amit Shah on September 12 to finalise the details, including the date of merger of his party into the BJP.

Sources said around a dozen former MLAs will also join the BJP along with Amarinder. A separate function will be held subsequently at the BJP's Chandigarh office where Amarinder's supporters from across the state, including office-bearers of his party would be inducted.

The BJP has been looking for credible Sikh faces as it prepares for the possibility of fighting the 2024 election without an alliance partner for the first time in three decades. Its long-time ally Shiromani Akali Dal parted ways following protests against the now-repealed three farm laws of the Central government.

The BJP is considered a Hindu party in a state where 58% of the population is Sikh. This is the first time the BJP is trying to bring top Sikh leaders into its fold. "When the Congress can rule Punjab on its own, why not BJP? We do not want to carry on with the tag of being a Hindu party in a Sikh majority state," said a BJP leader.

HC quashes pleas against BBMP delimitation order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday dismissed a batch of petitions which challenged the notification issued by the Urban Development Department to carry out delimitation of 243 wards of the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP).

Justice Hemant Chandangoudar said an order will be issued on Monday. The petitions were filed by S D Gururaj of the Shanthinagar Block Congress Committee, S Ismail Zabiulla and others on July 14, 2022.

One of the petitioners had alleged that the notification splits wards into multiple portions, which fall within the physical boundaries of other constituencies. This is contrary to the requirement under Section 7(1)(b) of the BBMP Act, that a ward cannot be spread over more than one constituency. The petitioner further alleged that the delimitation exercise is based on population data from the 2011 census, which is outdated and inaccurate, due to the exponential increase in population by over 61 per cent since 2011.

Meanwhile, the court which began the hearing of petitions challenging the reservation notification, asked the state government to file objections. Before adjourning the hearing to September 21, 2022, the court asked what was the criteria for reserving all seats of a particular constituency for women.

MLA: 10-lane B'luru-Mys NH to hit 200 villages hard

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

A symbiotic relationship exists between motorists and villagers along the Bengaluru-Mysuru Road, but this is now under threat with the 10-lane highway coming up between the two cities, warned JDS MLA D C Thammanna.

A former engineer, Thammanna has shot off a letter to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai saying that the 139-km stretch of the lane serves as a lifeline for around 200 villages and many towns.

He said many eateries run their businesses along the road, with each of them employing about 50 people, most of whom are local villagers. About 20,000 jobs have been created because of this road directly or indirectly.

Many of them benefited by supplying vegetables, fruits, milk and other essentials to the eateries. Educated unemployed villagers found jobs in the eateries, garment units and manufacturing centres on the way, he said. P8

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER floods in Bengaluru impacted the IT belt Mahadevpura the most, lake activists have pointed out that the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) itself killed many lakes and turned them into layouts. Over the years, the Authority encroached lakes and constructed residential areas, they alleged.

The lake activists, terming the present drive to clear encroachments on storm water drains a hogwash, said natural channels of water flow have been blocked, causing water to flow on roads.

They said BDA has filled 23 lakes with soil and formed 3,530 plots till now. In a letter to the government, BDA authorities had stated that the lakes had not been in use, filled them and made sites. The letter has been brought out into the open by lake activists.

Lake activist Ram Prasad from 'Friends of Lakes', lashing out at officials for killing the lakes said, "Removal of lake encroachments is claimed to have been carried out since 2005 after AT Ramaswamy's report. Later, the Koliwad committee report gave the extent of encroachments. With these extensive reports being available, a new set of names being mentioned seems like diversionary tactics. Encroachments on lakes, storm water drains and buffer zones should be removed as mentioned in these reports. New survey and other tactics to help influential encroachers will be seen as an act against the interest of the state and its citizens by activists. It is also a criminal breach of trust by surveyors and revenue authorities."

Bengaluru: The Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) on Friday gave an undertaking before the Karnataka High Court that it will submit on Monday the consolidated report on work undertaken to fill up potholes and removal of encroachments on stormwater drains. BBMP counsel V Srinidhi also informed the court that he will produce the CAG report on stormwater drains on Monday. ENS

HC bars BBMP from coercive action on Bagmane

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) not to take coercive action over the proposed demolition of the compound wall of the tech park of the Bagmane Developments Pvt Ltd. The court also directed the civic body to conduct the survey, give a copy of the survey report and hear the petitioner — Bagmane Developments Pvt Ltd — and then take action. Justice Hemant Chandangoudar passed the order while disposing the petition filed by the builder questioning the oral communication dated September 10 issued by the BBMP. ENS

Day 5: BBMP clears 11 encroachments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH BBMP's demolition drive against encroachments on Storm Water Drains (SWD) entering the fifth day on Friday, the civic body removed 11 encroachments in Dasarahalli and Yelahanka zones. However, BBMP officials continued their "survey" in the worst-hit Mahadevapura zone where demolition drive was abruptly halted on the second day, a decision which had raised many eyebrows.

According to BBMP, 3 quarter gunta of encroached land on Nelgadaranahalli Road, Rukmini Nagar and Dasarahalli was cleared and in some areas, the residents agreed to clear some encroachments themselves. Palike senior officials directed the local engineers to keep track of the clearance undertaken by the residents.

While removal of encroachments continued in Yelahanka Zone, Kuvempunagar Ward, Singapore Layout on Friday, razing of walls and obstructions in Landmark Apartment was completed. BBMP said it will build a rajajkaluve in Singapore Layout once the drive is completed.

At Mahadevapura zone, survey work was intensified in Vagdevi Layout, Munnekolalu, Kasavanahalli Village, A.B.K Village in Doddakannahalli, Prestige Tech Park, Wipro, Sunny Brooks, Belattur Village, Sadaramangala Village, Inner Area of Billineni Sasa Apartment, Sai Garden Barangay, Varthur to Shilavantana Lake and other places. Bengaluru East Taluk Tahsildar from Revenue Department monitored the survey work.

People who have built houses on canals will be issued notices and given three days time by the Tahsildar. Mahadevapura zone Chief Engineer Basavaraj Kabade said the encroachment clearance operation, if required after the survey, will be carried out as per rules.

Airport line crosses hurdle as HC gives nod to clear 411 trees

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

IN a big boost for infrastructure work along the K R Puram-Kempegowda International Airport Line, the High Court on Thursday gave its consent to the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL) to clear 411 trees along the mid-stretch.

To compensate for the cleared trees, 4,110 saplings will be planted in the Aero Space Park of the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board in Marenahalli.

Divya Hosur, General Manager, Social and Environmental Issues and IT, BMRCL told TNIE, "We have been permitted by the HC to cut 382 trees and to translocate 29 of them in the stretch between Kempapura Metro station and Bagalur Cross (Package 2, Phase 2B). We will replace the removed trees with ten times their number as compensatory afforestation."

The HC order by Justice Alok Aradhe (Acting Chief Justice) and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty called upon BMRCL to ensure adequate number of trees were planted in place of the trees that would be removed. The order was in response to the official memorandum submitted by the Deputy Conservator of Forests, BBMP, to the court on July 26 regarding these trees standing in the way of BMRCL's airport project, she said.

"The move is a relief for us as BMRCL was waiting for the clearance to be received for 1.5 months. We will start the process shortly," she added.

A senior BMRCL official said construction of the stations of Kempapura, Hebbal and Bagalur Cross were impacted due to the presence of the trees. "Kempapura is of particular significance as it will be an interchange station which will connect Phase-3 as well as the airport line," he said.

Final clearance given for new coaches

The Railway Board on September 15 gave BMRCL the final clearance to operate the seven new trains (42 coaches) purchased from BEML for its East-West or North-South Corridor at a maximum speed of 80 kmph. BMRCL had on June sought some modifications in the previous order issued by the board on May 18, 2022, and it was approved by the board a couple of days ago, said a senior official. "We will deploy the coaches on our upcoming Baiyappanahalli-Whitefield line," he said.

As floods recede, sharp rise in dengue, viral fever

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

WITH floodwaters receding in Mahadevapura zone in Bengaluru, following heavy rain two weeks ago, there is an uptick in mosquito breeding sites, and a spurt in cases of dengue and viral fever in the area.

So far this month, 635 cases of dengue were reported in the State, with 103 cases in Bengaluru. Of these, 44 cases were reported from Mahadevapura zone alone, a sharp rise from 28 cases reported in the zone last month.

BBMP health officials claimed that considering the flood-like situation, health issues have been restricted to a minimal in Mahadevapura zone. "Since we had taken precautionary measures like using power sprays to prevent mosquito breeding, holding health camps and surveillance activities, we could control the extent of vector-borne diseases. BWSSB also stepped up chlorination so that water-borne diseases could be controlled. The health camps will continue for another four days," they said.

Besides software and IT/BT professionals, there are migrant construction workers in Bellandur, Hagadur and Varthur. Families living in 84 flooded apartments had shifted to hotels. Over 400 migrant workers had relocated to two choultries, where they were provided food. Now, all of them have moved back to their homes. "We saw cases of only dengue and viral fever," health officials added.

Meanwhile, Dr Mithilesh Kumar, paediatrician at Apollo Clinic, Sarjapur Road, in Mahadevapura zone, said they have seen a 5 per cent increase in cases of viral fever and suspected dengue cases this month, compared to last month. Besides ensuring mosquito control, people should drink filtered or boiled and cooled water, was his advice.

Ashoka seeks support of all parties for drive

Revenue Minister R Ashoka on Friday sought the cooperation of all parties to go ahead with the demolition of illegal encroachments on storm water drains, regardless how big or small the encroachers are. "Out of thousands of IT-BT companies, about 30 have encroached upon storm water drains. But Congress leaders are raising objections when we go ahead with the demolition drive citing that it will adversely affect the IT-BT industry whereas the media criticise us for clearing encroachments by poor families. If this goes on like this, the demolition operation has to be stopped." ENS

PETER VIDAL

17TH September: Today is ruled by Saturn, the planet of boundaries, doorways and gates. Some astrologers say, this is a good day to transition from one spiritual state to another. But as spirituality functions best when we care for our bodies, this is mostly a day for sorting out practical matters.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Watch any wild, speculative schemes. Yours is not the only sign subject to rash influences but, right now, your best professional prospects come from long-term planning rather than a short-term gamble. And why not save your social energy for self-indulgent whims of a low-risk nature - and just enjoy yourself?

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The great news is that cash is about to flow in, giving you the go-ahead for various schemes and long-awaited purchases. You have maybe two or three days to wait for the perfect alignment. Patience is a virtue you have in abundance, and right now it's one of your major strengths.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Situations you thought you knew inside out will suddenly have exciting new dimensions. It's often like that at this time of year, partly because the planets begin to stimulate your remarkable creative zones. What you've got to do is do what you want, not what other people think you want!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Your faith in certain individuals may have been shattered, but someone is standing by you. It's not just practical changes that are important at home, but an entire shift of attitudes. It's time for a spot of domestic clarity! And, by that, I mean openness and honesty.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
It's a good moment to make a wish. A good ninety percent of all available celestial factors are cheering you on in one form or another. Probably the best way to tune in to their expectations is via a spot of positive thinking. The fact is that even difficulties can work out to your advantage.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
I know what a doormat you can be, and that sometimes you resent the extent to which others walk all over you. Yet, if you are discriminating and capable of making sensible choices, you will be able to separate the deserving causes from those that deserve only to be packed on their way.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Everything seems to be working out just fine, although I realise that there may have been a few hairy moments! All that's necessary is that you know when to change and when to stay still. It's all in the timing - and you, of course, have an instinctive knowledge of when to move forward and when to hang back.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Although you may be a little edgy, I don't think you have anything to worry about just now. A great many of you are facing a busy day. At the very least you must work out how to attain a treasured ambition. Surprisingly, someone you live with could be a considerable help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Normally you're in the driving seat, but now you seem to be a passenger, travelling life's transit system as a passive observer. Stand up for yourself and for your rights as never before, although that might mean that you have to take on new responsibilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Patience, tolerance and a sense of humour are the necessary ingredients for a successful day. Perhaps you might like to take someone else's part if they're in difficulties or making heavy weather of an otherwise easy load? A few choice words could help - if you can find the right way to say them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Relationships on all levels should be more harmonious, contented and affectionate as the major planetary alignments zoom in on delightful regions of your solar chart. Go for all adventurous options, if you have a choice in the matter, that is.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You're standing on the brink of a brave new existence. I can't promise you the world, but I can forecast that life will become considerably more comfortable as a result of current choices and actions. You may have to put your money where your mouth is, though!

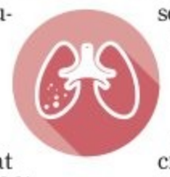
NOW, ADOPT A TB PATIENT, SPONSOR TREATMENT

'9.4L of 13.5L patients have given consent'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Minister for Health and Family Welfare Dr Mansukh Mandaviya called on people to adopt tuberculosis patients as donors through 'Community Support to TB Patients' programme and become 'Nikshay Mitra' taken up as part of Pradhan Mantri TB-Mukt Bharat Abhiyaan launched last Friday. The target is to alleviate tuberculosis from India by 2025.



Interacting with mediapersons from across the country via video conference, he said that corporates, NGOs, public and elected representatives can adopt individual TB patients or a group of TB patients via Nikshay 2.0 website (communitysupport.nikshay.in) and sponsor their treatment or nutrition, a nutrition basket or offer a job to their family members. They can adopt them for six months, one year, two or three years. Among 13.51 lakh TB patients in the country, 9.42 lakh TB patients have given their consent for adoption, he said.

He also announced Raktdaan Amrit Mahotsav, a national voluntary blood donation drive which would be taken on Saturday, and called on people to register as donors with the registry through eraktkosh.in or cowin.gov.in portal. They can donate blood whenever there is a requirement. "This is to make blood available, accessible and safe. Every two seconds, someone needs blood, one unit can save three people. During the Covid-19 pandemic, people needed 1.46 crore units, but availability was just 1.25 crore units. Hence, this mega blood donation drive has been taken up. More than 5,000 camps will be held across the nation," Mandaviya said.

Mandaviya said that medical students who have come to India from Ukraine would be given permission for internship, followed by a foreign entrance exam.

He clarified that an expert group has not yet given permission for Covid vaccination for those below 6 years of age.

15-day health screening camp begins today

Bengaluru A special 15-day health screening camp will be launched on Saturday on the occasion of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's birthday, and will be held till October 2, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said here on Friday. At a meeting, Sudhakar directed health officials to conduct eye screening for children aged 8-10 years, and to lay emphasis on yoga, meditation and pranayama camps during the campaign, along with the support of NGOs and schools. He also asked officials to do an audit of each hospital, including death audit of new mothers. Sudhakar informed that they have distributed Ayushman Bharat-Arogya Karnataka cards to 35 lakh people. Principal Secretary, Health department, Dr Anil Kumar said that besides registration for adoption of TB patients and blood donors at 248 blood banks, health officials should also increase pledges for organ donation and Covid booster dose among those aged above 18 years.

Rare surgery performed on 14-yr-old in Mysuru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

MYSURU doctors gave a new lease of life to a 14-year-old boy by performing a complex and rare Whipples procedure (pancreaticoduodenectomy—a complex operation to remove the head of the pancreas, the first part of the small intestine (duodenum), the gallbladder and the bile duct). The boy had a history of pain in his abdomen for the last four years which only got worsened leading to the patient being unable to tolerate the pain and consume oral diet.

An endoscopic ultrasound performed showed complex cystic lesion of size 7x6 cm in the head of the pancreas. A further workup with detailed CT scan showed compression of the main vein connecting to the liver causing multiple collaterals while the cyst fluid analysis suggested a doubtful tumorous lesion.

A multidisciplinary team comprising of surgeons, gastroenterologists and radiologists at the Apollo BGS Hospitals chalked out a meticulous surgical approach to treat the lesion after obtaining the family's consent.

Explaining about the rare procedure during a press meet held here on Friday, consultant chief gastrointestinal surgeon Dr Nairuthya S said: "The surgery went on for nearly six hours due to its complicated anatomy. Though we had planned for venous resection, we were able to painstakingly dissect off the tumour from the superior mesenteric vein and perform a Whipple's procedure."

The child was discharged within a week and is doing well on follow up and is now able to consume normal diet.

Urban health centre opens, to provide affordable healthcare

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A first-of-its-kind comprehensive urban public health centre (UPHC) was inaugurated in Bengaluru on Friday. The hospital will provide all services — virtual clinic, dental services, X-ray, physiotherapy, emergency services etc, with a completely digitised record system, said Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, Minister for IT/BT and Higher Education.

Inaugurating the hospital, he said that four similar PHCs are in the pipeline, and are expected to be functional in a month's time. The idea is to make the centre a 'one-stop solution' for all health-related problems at an affordable cost. With schemes like Pradhan Mantri Jan Aushadhi Kendra and Ayushman Bharat-Arogya Karnataka Insurance scheme, qualitative drugs and facilities will be provided to patients at discounted prices.

ABARK provides free treatment of up to Rs 5 lakh for BPL cardholders, and 30 per cent discount for non-BPL holders up to Rs 5 lakh. They aim to provide specialised clinical services from primary to tertiary care. Maintenance of infrastructure, equipment and renovation will be done by Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP). Narayan said it will be well managed with the funds allocated, and complete digitisation of the registration process will make the system more transparent and accountable.

For specialist smart clinics, a command centre will be built at Sadashivnagar to create a workplace for doctors to be able to provide specialist medical services in remote parts.

MoUs have been signed between BBMP and Minto Hospital, Padmashree Institute of Physiotherapy and Government Dental College for providing clinical and academic services.

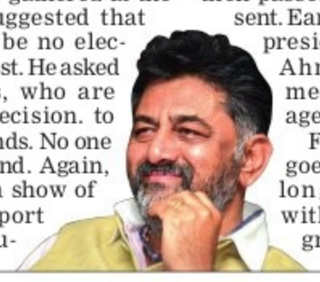
DKS MAY RETAIN KPCC CHIEF'S POST, LEAD PARTY IN 2023 POLLS

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

KPCC president DK Shivakumar is likely to lead the party into the 2023 Assembly elections, which are about seven months away. The two year-term of Shivakumar ended recently and the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee at a formal general body meeting on Friday evening at Ambedkar Bhavan in Bengaluru passed a simple resolution to give AICC president Sonia Gandhi the power to appoint the KPCC president and AICC members from Karnataka. The resolution was proposed by PCC president DK Shivakumar which was seconded by Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah and opposition leader in the Council BK Hariprasad.

Earlier, Hariprasad, who had served as AICC general secretary for 16 terms, spoke to the PCC members gathered at the venue and suggested that there should be no elections for the post. He asked the members, who are against the decision. to show their hands. No one lifted their hand. Again, he asked for a show of hands in support of the resolution and there was unanimous approval. The resolution was then passed without any dissent. Earlier, KPCC working president MLC Saleem Ahmed briefed the meeting about the agenda of the day.



Friday's decision goes on to cement the long-held tradition within the state Congress that it prefers consensus over elections. If a poll is held, it could have been a disaster for the party unity, some political observers said.

With the state Congress passing the resolution, Sonia will formally ask the state unit to propose names for state president and AICC members. Once done, the new appointments will be announced.

The president and members are empowered to vote in the Congress national president elections scheduled for October 17.

It may be recalled that DK Shivakumar was appointed KPCC president after previous chief Dinesh Gundurao quit, owning moral responsibility for the party's disastrous show in the 2019 parliamentary polls, where Congress managed to win just one out of 28 seats, while BJP managed 25 seats.

With roughly a month left for the AICC president election, the KPCC meeting on Friday and the unanimous resolution is but a procedure that needed to be completed. Other Congress state units too need to follow the process within stipulated time. The decision has come at a time when the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) has summoned Shivakumar to appear before it in Delhi over corruption charges against him.

ANTI-CONVERSION LEGISLATION

Congress legislators opposing Bill to please Sonia, Rahul, says KSE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

SENIOR BJP MLA KS Eshwarappa on Friday hit out at Congress legislators for tearing a copy of the Karnataka Protection of Right to Freedom of Religion Bill-2022, commonly called the Anti-Conversion Bill, in the Council on Thursday.

Calling the passing of the Bill historic, the former minister said the move will put an end to forceful conversions and luring of people towards a particular religion.

He said that a few Congress legislators tore a copy of the Bill to please Congress interim president Sonia Gandhi and Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi.

"The passing of the Bill is a victory for democracy," he said, adding that cases of religious conversions were increasing in recent years and noted during revision of electoral rolls.

Eshwarappa, however, said he is not against people converting to other religions voluntarily.

Meanwhile, Eshwarappa said that those Dalits who are economically well-off and are politically connected should give up reservation so that the benefits reach the deserving.

Eshwarappa said that KPCC president DK Shivakumar should appear before the ED instead of questioning the timing of the summons. Taking a dig at the Congress over its Bharat Jodo Yatra, the former minister accused the Grand Old Party of dividing Akanda Bharat.

6L ha of deemed forest to be granted to farmers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister R Ashoka informed the assembly on Friday that the government would denotify 6 lakh hectares deemed forest -- around 15 lakh acres -- of 9 lakh hectares deemed forest in Karnataka, and grant it to farmers who have been cultivating the land for decades.

"In 15 days, a meeting will be held to take a decision on demarcation, and about 3,000 surveyors will be absorbed on contract basis to conduct the survey on a war footing. The land which coffee planters and pepper growers in Kodagu and Chikkamagaluru have been cultivating for over 70 years, will be leased to them," he told the House.

Leader of the opposition Siddaramaiah, who welcomed the move, claimed that his government had made a move to lease out up to 10 acres in the region.

"If we continue to lose forest cover for development and illegal encroachments, it will have an impact on the state. The 15th Finance Commission has indicated in one of the guidelines that loss of green cover will eventually reflect in a cut in grants to the state," a top official told TNIE.

New Act makes financial fraud non-bailable offence

With the Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments (amendment) Bill, 2022, passed in the ongoing Assembly session, any offence under the new law will be cognisable and non-bailable. The Act provides for setting up of a special court in each district with the consent of the Karnataka High Court. It also aims to protect the interest of depositors and prevent them from being defrauded by unscrupulous bankers and financial establishments. "It will not be a retrospective, but prospective, Act as the law was brought through an ordinance in May 2022. Now, FIRs filed against individuals and institutions at different places will be clubbed together to be tried before special courts," said Law Minister JC Madhu Swamy, who presented the Bill for discussion.

Bill to regularise unauthorised lands passed

The Karnataka Land Revenue (Amendment) Bill was passed in the assembly to extend by a year, time to apply for regularisation of unauthorised cultivation of government lands. MLAs cutting across party lines welcomed the move as there is a huge number of applicants waiting in their constituencies.

Ashoka informed that there are 7,15,705 applications for grants of government lands under Form-57, 1,12,545 under Form-53 and 6,302 under Form-50.

JDS leader G T Devegowda asked the government to relax norms on gomala lands. "When mutts are granted gomala lands easily, why cannot farmers who have been cultivating them for decades?" he questioned.

Deputy leader of the opposition UT Khader was the lone MLA to raise an objection. "Affluent people are more likely to misuse the law to get government lands granted. There needs to be strict scrutiny in this regard," he insisted.

He also expressed concern over government lands getting exhausted across the state. If there is rampant grant of land to private parties, there will be nothing left for public utilities, including hospitals and schools, he said.

ACTION AGAINST RESIDENTIAL SCHOOL TEACHERS BASED ON CHARGESHEET: MINISTER

Social Welfare Minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari on Friday said action will be taken against the in-charge principal and computer teacher of Dr BR Ambedkar Residential School in Kunchavaram of Chincholi in Kalaburagi district, who are accused of sexually harassing girl students, based on the chargesheet filed by the police. To a question by MLC BG Patil during the Zero Hour in the Legislative Council on Friday, Poojari said the principal, Chethan Reddy, and computer teacher, Sangamesha Fakina, against whom the parents have made allegations, have already been placed under suspension. "An FIR under the Pocso Act was registered at the Kunchavaram police station on September 12. Further action will be taken based on the inquiry conducted by the Social Welfare Department and the chargesheet filed by the police," he added. The duo was assaulted by parents following allegations of harassment by girl students.

BEGGING UNDER CONTROL IN BENGALURU: MINISTER

Social Welfare Minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari said beggary was reduced by 90% in Bengaluru and efforts are being made to control it in the next 2-3 months. Replying to a question by MLC A Devegowda, the minister said several inter-departmental meetings were held in the recent past to control beggary and 3,068 persons indulged in beggary have been rescued. "In Bengaluru, 600 cases of women begging along with children were identified. In most of the cases, it was found that the child they used to take along to beg was hired and even given sedatives. Action was taken against such women and the children were rescued. Such cases have come down by 90% and we will completely control such cases in the next 2-3 months," Poojari said. Urban Development Byrathi Basavaraj informed the Council that 657 works were taken up in seven cities under the Smart City project. Of them, 412 have been completed, 243 are under progress and tenders have been called for two projects. Directives have been given to complete all works by June 2023, he added.

'Single entry to highway will kill small businesses'

THERE are also many farmers and land owners who benefited from the spike in real estate value which gave them rental incomes and high value in case of outright sale.

Thammanna warned that the decision to barricade the highway and make it a single entry exit from Bengaluru to Mysuru could be life threatening to the hundereds of small businesses along the way, including petrol bunks.

In the letter, he questioned the CM if the 10 lane-widening of the highway will turn out to be a blessing or a curse for so many people.

He reminded that it was a single road which was widened and made a double road during the time of the late Krishna Raja Wadiyar IV through the services of Sir M Visvesvaraya who was his minister and who served the state for about 80 years.

In his five-page letter, Thammanna also highlighted the structural defects in the road project.

MLC: Govt left Ramanagara flood victims in the lurch

ENS @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS MLC S Ravi on Friday alleged that the state government failed to rush to the help of flood victims in Ramanagara as no relief is provided to them, while many are still homeless.

During the discussion in the Council on recent floods, Ravi said around 3,000 homes were flooded in Ramanagara alone as Bhakshi Lake breached. "Due to the floods, there was no connectivity between the old and new parts of the town. People had to rush out as water entered their homes. Several houses were partially damaged, while over 250 old buildings collapsed due to heavy rain. While Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai visited the area within a few days to take stock of the situation, it is ironic that most of the victims are still homeless and many have not received any compensation, which is crucial to rebuild their lives," Ravi said.

He alleged that the distinct in-charge minister has not even convened a meeting after the floods. Attacking the bureaucracy, he said officials are asking citizens to produce ID cards to receive compensation. "When people have lost their homes, it is inhuman to ask for Aadhaar and voter ID cards. The government should ensure that people get relief at the earliest," Ravi said.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

TRANSPORT Minister B Sriramulu informed the Legislative Council that the irregularities in registering luxury cars without collecting lifetime tax will be handed over to the Criminal Investigation Department (CID). He said that 226 such cases were reported in Karnataka.

MLCs CN Manjegowda and N Ravikumar raised a question on action taken against those officials accused of cheating and causing loss to the exchequer, and other agencies involved in the scam. In reply, Sriramulu said that an enquiry was conducted into the matter by the Transport Department officials and they have submitted a report, opining that the case can be handed over to the Lokayukta or CID for further investigation. "We have requested the Accountant General and Principal Accountant General to audit and submit a report. After the receipt of the report, we will initiate further action," Sriramulu said.

Manjegowda expressed displeasure that the matter was raised in the previous session but no investigation was ordered though six months have elapsed. Sriramulu assured him of handing over the probe to the CID before the session ends.

'SALARY REVISION AFTER CM NOD'

To a question by MLC DS Arun, Sriramulu said that the proposal to revise the salaries of transport corporation employees was before the government. "The last salary hikes for the employees were done in 2016 and the government is aware that the salaries must be revised every four years. However, due to various reasons, including the pandemic, the salaries were not revised. The government has plans to revise their salary."

ACCIDENT BLACK SPOTS REDUCED: MINISTER

Sriramulu said accident black spots were reduced from 942 to 342 across the state. Replying to a question by MLC YM Satish in the Legislative Council, the minister said that the state had spent Rs 295 crore on road safety and had reduced 600 blackspots. Satish said accide-nts were occurring due to the usage of LED headlights and urged that penalties should be levied on those using high beams within city limits.

Be part of the change: Bommai appeals to CEOs

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai urged chief executive officers of various IT-BT companies to adopt professional colleges in rural areas to provide better facilities and knowledge to these under-served students. At a corporate social responsibility conclave on Friday, he said, "Your contribution may not be just money, it can also be knowledge and technology. You can contribute through your experience and own up the responsibility. Then you will see changes in colleges, students and at last in yourself," he said. The state government spent Rs 4,800 crore in upgrading Industrial Training Institutes. Each college has been given Rs 30-40 crore. Government engineering colleges too will be upgraded on par with IITs, he said. ENS

No action needed on graft charges against BSY: Joshi

Hubballi: Union Minister Pralhad Joshi on Friday ruled out taking action against party senior leader BS Yediyurappa after the High Court asked the Lokayukta police to file a first information report against the former chief minister over a private complaint on corruption. "Action against Yediyurappa is uncalled for as he is not in any constitutional post. He holds a position in the party and action against him is not necessary. The party has no such norm to act against any office-bearers facing corruption charges," he said. When pointed out that it is a question of upholding political morality, Joshi said the party is confident that Yediyurappa will come out clean in the case, which is yet to be investigated. ENS

Academicians question fund release by VTU at fag end of VC's tenure

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

EVEN as the search committee constituted by Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to shortlist candidates for the vice-chancellor's post of Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) is set to meet on September 24, several academicians have questioned the release of a large amount of funds by the university at the fag end of its VC's term.

A few academicians have also questioned the selection of members to the search committee, contending that two of them, representing the VTU Executive Council and VTU Senate, are not professors at VTU or any of its affiliated colleges. A former VTU VC and a former registrar said that earlier, at least one of the VTU representatives in the search committee would be a professor from a VTU-affiliated institution. But this time, both the candidates from VTU — Kripashankar, former VC of Uttar Pradesh Technical University, and Jitendra Nayak — are not working with VTU-affiliated lleges. The government nominee in the committee, Prof MS Shivakumar, however, is a former registrar of VTU and also former principal of NIE, Mysuru.

The VTU Executive Council and Senate have several well-known professors, but none of them made it to the search committee, the former VC said, adding that one of the VTU nominees was also a member of the Academic Council of Gogte Institute of Technology, Belagavi.

According to sources, over 50 candidates have applied for the VC's post and the committee is expected to shortlist three of them at the September 24 meeting at Raj Bhavan.

The documents shared by a VTU former registrar revealed that the university released Rs 20 crore for works taken up at Choranahalli, Mysuru and another big tranche to purchase software for the university. Several former VCs and registrars, including Jagannath Reddy, MS Shivakumar, H Maheshappa and K Balaveera Reddy, have objected to the release of funds by the university at the fag end of the VC's tenure. They said that as per rules, the VCs are not supposed to take any major decisions, including big spends, when their term is set to end over the next 3-6 months.

But a top VTU official defended the release of Rs 20 crore, saying the amount has gone to the Housing Board, a government body that has taken up the construction work at Choranahalli. "The decision by VTU to release the amount has been taken by the university authorities in concurrence with the decision made by the executive council earlier," he contended.

Shah set to lead BJP team armed with Centre's brand of Hyd Liberation Day

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hyderabad

THE Telangana government kicked off the diamond jubilee celebrations of the Telangana Integration Day on Friday, signalling the commencement of a see-saw battle with the BJP in turning the tide of public opinion in its favour. With Union Home Minister Amit Shah all set to lead the BJP team in the tug of war armed with Centre's brand of Hyderabad Liberation Day celebrations on Saturday, Hyderabad has become a theatre for both the parties' exhibition of their talents in earning brownie points with the people.

The State government set the tone for Saturday's Integration Day celebrations by organising rallies all over Telangana and illuminating the buildings on Friday to gain an upperhand over the BJP.

But with the BJP, which had set its eyes on capturing power in Telangana in 2024 elections, announcing Hyderabad Liberation Day celebrations to rile the Muslims and thus polarise the Hindus in its favour, TRS supremo and Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao was forced to come up with a political anti-dote.

Rao will kick start the year-long celebrations by hoisting the Tricolour at the Public Gardens while in all districts' HQs the ministers and other dignitaries will unfurl the flag. He would also inaugurate Banjara Bhavan and Adivasi Bhavan to send out a message that the interests of the tribals were close to his heart.

VIMS doctors fear inquiry, outrage, plan to take leave

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

OVER the last three days, Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Science (VIMS), Ballari has been facing criticism from the public over the deaths of two patients allegedly due to interruption of oxygen supply. To avoid a possible inquiry or outrage from the families of patients, many doctors have sought leave in the past two days, while the VIMS authorities are trying to convince the junior staffers to return to work.

Following the deaths, the state government had constituted a committee to investigate into the allegations of lapses on the part of hospital authorities as many other deaths earlier are now being linked to interruption in oxygen supply. At least three more families now demand compensation.

Members of a probe team hold a meeting with hospital authorities on Friday

Director of VIMS Gangadhar Gowda told TNIE that medical staffers in the hospital are under stress, and authorities are trying to motivate them. "So far, two patients have died due to power cut, which has been explained to the government panel. If there are any lapses, action will be taken. The district administration has assured that power supply issue will be addressed," he explained.

Probe team visits VIMS

The five-member probe panel visited VIMS Hospital on Friday, and the members held meetings with the officials and family members of the deceased. The team is expected to submit a report to the government in the next two days.

Students' forums question Vedic math

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Students' organisations have criticised the government's decision to use funds reserved for SC/ST students to teach them Vedic math.

The organisations pointed out that the students have already been facing several issues related to their education, including suffering from a delay in issuing scholarships and a lack of hostel facilities.

"First, it was textbook revision, then the position papers regarding Indian Knowledge Systems as part of the NEP and now they are trying to teach students Vedic math, which is nothing more than arithmetic tricks," said Aratrika, a member of the convening committee for the AISA.

AIDSO state secretary HM Sithara said many scientists and reformers, including Raja Ram Mohan Roy and Meghnad Saha, had denounced Vedic mathematics as being false. "No educationist or mathematician prescribes Vedic maths and teaching two methods of learning mathematics will destroy minds of children. Who are the experts deciding what should be taught? Who recommended teaching two opposite methods of mathematics?" she said.

Onam jackpot winner drives autorickshaw

TOBY ANTONY @Kochi

WINNING the Onam jackpot of ₹12 crore in 2021 was a life-changing experience for Maradu resident PR Jayapalan, 58, earning him fame and also death threats. However, the win has not changed his lifestyle.

A year on, Jayapalan still wakes up in the same house and drives the autorickshaw. He did not make changes to his house after becoming a crorepati and still owns the autorickshaw and a car that he bought on loan.

"The biggest change was money management," said Jayapalan, who believes a simple lifestyle is best for survival.

After deduction of tax and surcharge and cess, the final amount deposited in his fixed deposit is Rs 6 crore, he said.

Jayapalan said he purchased five cents of land in Pachalam and six cents of land in Tripunithura. He is all set to buy 4.5 acres of paddy land where he plans to carry out shrimp farming. He also cleared his debt of ₹9 lakh after winning.

"People came from across the state seeking money as charity after they heard about my victory. I even got death threats twice," recalled Jayapalan. "After winning, I helped needy relatives. I also give ₹20,000 every month to an NGO," he said.

Jayapalan's good fortune continued even after winning. Soon after, his younger son Vishnu got admission in Kozhikode Medical College for MBBS and his daughter-in-law secured a permanent job in India Post. He has bought this year's Onam lottery having ₹25 crore as the top prize. The draw will be held on Sunday. However, he does not expect to win again. "I don't think I will win the Onam bumper again. This time, I bought the ticket from Alappuzha," he said.

DELHI LIQUOR ROW FINDS ECHO IN GUJARAT CAMPAIGN

The political tremors of the alleged liquor scam in Delhi are felt more in Gujarat than where it originated. The BJP and the AAP are involved in a bitter slugfest over the issue in election-bound Gujarat. The state BJP has gone the whole hog to portray the AAP as a party run with cash from corrupt deals. The AAP claims its increasing popularity in Gujarat is why its ministers in Delhi are being raided and charge-sheeted. The AAP has launched a shrill campaign in Gujarat. Its plan to enter the state's tribal areas in alliance with the Bharatiya Tribal Party did not work. Still, Kejriwal is drawing crowds in urban centres, especially in Surat and Ahmedabad. The two districts are BJP strongholds and account for 28 of 182 constituencies. Arvind Kejriwal had recently announced that the surveys conducted by his party show the AAP leading in seven seats in Surat where the party had won its first municipal seat. He said his party's tally would improve further as campaigning picks up. The AAP campaign has sent alarm bells ringing in the BJP.

The ruling party's margin of victory against the main opposition party—the Congress—was thin, and many of its seats came from urban areas. Despite being out of power in the state for decades, the Congress continues to enjoy considerable support in the rural areas of Gujarat. With the Congress holding fort in rural Gujarat, and Kejriwal launching an onslaught on the BJP's urban citadel, the ruling party has its hands full trying to defend its stronghold. The ruling party's attack is focused more on the AAP than on the Congress. The fight between the two parties will get dirtier as the state election gets closer.

The Enforcement Directorate has already arrested Delhi health minister Satyendar Jain and it is only a matter of time before another minister, Manish Sisodia, is arrested. Sisodia is the minister of finance and excise, the two departments directly connected with the formulation and implementation of the new liquor policy in Delhi. He is also the second most important person in the AAP as deputy chief minister in the Kejriwal government. With relentless raids on scores of locations, the ED is said to have gathered evidence against Sisodia. His arrest will be the BJP's big play in the Gujarat election.

INVESTMENTS SHY OVER GROWTH WORRIES

If it's not one thing, it's another holding back private investments. First came the twin balance sheet problem, followed by the slowdown, the Covid-19 pandemic, and now, global uncertainty due to the Russian war, supply chain disruptions, recessionary fears and persistent inflation. Consequently, India's investment to GDP ratio slipped from a peak of 38% during the last decade to about 10% now. The quarter ended June 2022 saw investment proposals worth ₹3.57 lakh crore, which is heartening, but this is nearly half that of the preceding quarter, which saw ₹5.91 lakh crore worth of proposals. A visibly disappointed Nirmala Sitharaman, who's been waiting for animal spirits to be unleashed since 2019, when she took charge of the finance ministry, didn't hold back in asking why industries weren't investing, despite corporate tax cuts and production-linked incentives, besides others.

She has a point. The balance sheets of both corporates and banks are clean. The corporate debt to GDP ratio slipped to a decade-low, and profitability has increased. The Central government's Capex spending is on track, while capacity utilisation at over 74% is above the pre-pandemic levels and inching closer to the 2019 peak of 76%. Unarguably, foreign investors and industries see India as an opportune market, while companies moving out of China see India as their next stop. In fact, Bob Sternfels, chief of McKinsey, believes this century belongs to India, not just the decade.

But homegrown companies aren't entirely in the mood for risk-taking, perhaps, ramming home the point that it isn't government Capex or low interest rates that drive private investments but durable growth and robust demand. Both are eluding India as of now. India's per capita income fell below the previous year, and as if the declining purchasing power isn't enough, inflation is making it worse. And rising interest rates could affect household spending, thereby denting demand further, adding to investors' uncertainty. Lastly, businesses prefer smooth compliance and policy stability before embarking on their next investment cycle. Sitharaman may be right in equating India Inc's abilities to Hanuman's, who was often reminded of his strengths. But it's also true that Hanuman was known for holding back his supreme energy and using his might only when the situation so demanded. Even if investors respond to investment appeals, their decisions should be solely guided by market dynamics to avoid the mistakes of the previous decade.

QUICK TAKE

REFORM JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM

The Supreme Court laments that juveniles caught in the criminal justice system can't get out of it unscathed. Nothing new. How to plug the loopholes that victimise minors awaiting criminal trials is well-known, but they won't help till officials adopt a sensitised mindset. Juvenile suspects suffer on two counts. One's ascertaining their age. Only a digitised database can resolve their problem. The other is the pathetic state of their transit homes. Stories of physical assault and abuse abound. The officialdom must realise even children held for heinous crimes need care and protection lest the system harden those caught in it.

The creation of a separate Sports Ministry in 2020 speaks volumes about Prime Minister Modi's passion for sports

INDIA BID UNDER MODI TO BECOME SPORTS SUPERPOWER

P V SINDHU
Olympic medalist and ace badminton player

SOURAV ROY

The Tokyo Olympics in 2020 was India's most successful Olympics ever, where I, too, won a medal for my country. There was euphoria all around the Indian contingent when we returned home. Before leaving for Tokyo, we met Prime Minister Narendra Modi. He motivated us to give our best. So, we were again anticipating a meeting with the PM after our return. Within a few days, we were invited to Lok Kalyan Marg.

We had a very interesting interaction with Modi ji where we shared our experiences with him. Modi ji lauded all of us and exhorted us to strive to do better in future. He shared his government's roadmap for Indian sports and sought our cooperation to make India a sporting superpower. He asked us to help youngsters and budding sportspersons, groom them and share our experiences and expertise with them. It was a meeting worth remembering.

But a surprise awaited me. As we all enjoyed our snacks after the meeting, Prime Minister Modi came up and offered me my favourite ice-cream. He was fulfilling a promise which he had made to me before my departure to Tokyo. He had promised to have ice cream with me if I won a medal in the Tokyo Olympics. That moment will remain with me forever.

Who can forget how Prime Minister Modi comforted the inconsolable Indian women's hockey team after they had lost the bronze medal match in the Tokyo Olympics? Similarly, when the Indian women's cricket team lost the gold medal in the recently held Commonwealth Games, Modi ji lauded the team for their spectacular performance and motivated every player. When the Indian women's cricket team captain Mithali Raj retired after a highly successful career in international and domestic cricket, Prime Minister Modi wrote to her, thanking her for her contributions to Indian cricket and sports and how she made India proud. He also exhorted the youth to take inspiration from the life of Mithali Raj. All these instances reflect the personal touch of PM Modi with sportspersons.

I have interacted with Prime Minister Modi on several occasions. He has always called or met me whenever I won a tournament or a medal. All this motivates me and encourages me to do well for my country. He has always inspired every sportsperson and athlete to give their best without worrying about the result. His involvement in sports, his understanding of the needs of sportspersons, his interesting initiatives in sports, and his efforts in developing infrastructure and giving special attention to the needs of sportspersons—have all made a huge difference in India's performance at global events.

The vision of Prime Minister Modi and the mission mode in which his government is working to promote sports and support sportspersons reflects in his unique schemes and programmes. For instance, the 'Target Olympic Podium Scheme' (TOPS), which was introduced in 2015, is a path-breaking scheme that has been instrumental in ensuring that a "core group of athletes" have all the necessary personalised support in terms of foreign exposure, hiring of specific coaches, training and competition abroad. TOPS, which supports a "core group" of athletes and sportspersons like me, besides younger athletes training for the Olympics in 2024 and 2028 in the "development group", has significantly propelled the level of results athletes are producing today. It has led to India's best-ever Olympics and Paralympics performance in 2020, a Thomas Cup win after 73 years, and many such sporting achievements.

Athletes today have all the facilities they need, and the facilities are extended seamlessly by the government through the Sports Ministry and Sports Authority of India. This constant support ensures that athletes do not have to take stress regarding the funds needed for their training, and can concentrate on their game instead.

Today, most of us train in the best facilities in India and abroad, funded by the government. We don't have to worry about our training, getting the right coaches, sports science support or specialised training equipment. This kind of support is not extended to sportspersons in most countries. The government's constant engagement with athletes right from the grassroots level—Khelo India—to the elite athletes in TOPS, is a huge change that I have seen as an athlete in the last few years. This is the key to why India is doing so well. Thanks to these unique initiatives of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, I am certain that India will continue to excel in sports in the years to come and emerge as a global superpower in major international sporting events.

I see Modi ji as a very able sports administrator. His passion and vision for Indian sports became evident when, as Chief Minister of Gujarat, he organised a one of its kind Khel Mahakumbh in the state. As prime minister, he conceptualised yet another unique scheme—Khelo India Youth Games—an initiative to search for young sporting talents from India's villages and small towns. To carve out future talents, the Narendra Modi government has created several Khelo India Kendras. The creation of a separate Sports Ministry in 2020 speaks volumes about his passion for sports and his commitment to making India a superpower in sports.

Sports today are not just confined to tournaments and events. A holistic approach of the Narendra Modi government towards sports is going to change the way India takes its sports and games. The creation of India's first National Sports University in Manipur with an expenditure of ₹800 crore in one big step in this direction. Similarly, Major Dhyan Chand Sports University is also coming up in Uttar Pradesh for higher education in sports. The Narendra Modi government has come out with the National Air Sports Policy, another important initiative to help grow our sports.

During his popular 'Mann Ki Baat' programme, Modi ji has been regularly talking about sports and sporting personalities. He has been motivating young talents, besides warning them that there are no shortcuts to achieving success. He has been telling us not to lose hope in defeat and also not lose focus after success. The motivation from Prime Minister Modi, efforts and policy initiatives from his government on the ground, and transparency in the Indian sports administration—all augur well for the future of Indian sports. Our journey towards a bright sporting future has just begun.

TELLING THE BEES THE QUEEN IS DEAD

PRATIK KANJILAL
Editor of The India Cable

SPEAKEASY

The death of Queen Elizabeth II mostly evoked fond memories in South Asia, where we still think of the English as jolly good fellows who taught us the pleasures of cucumber sandwiches and buttered scones, the crack of willow on leather and the romance of the rails. Of course, there is an uneasy understanding that the railways were developed to open up hinterlands and speed up troop movements—the need was keenly felt after 1857—rather than to help the natives holiday. But never mind, the English and their royals were all right, even if they did pinch the Kohinoor and now charge exorbitant sums to let you see it in the Tower of London.

But times are changing rapidly, and the old admonition against speaking ill of the dead is out of date—that, too, was a British import, derived via the Enlightenment from Chilon of Sparta (6th century BC). Bashing Nehru is a profitable industry, and other worthies of the period are not immune. Earlier, UK dignitaries visiting India only feared demands for an apology for the Jallianwala Bagh massacre. Now that it's been Indianised into an entertainment venue with a laser show, attention has shifted to the Kohinoor, which is of more material value. The Shri Jagannath Sena of Odisha wants the hot rock returned to the Lord of the World and has asked the President, who will attend the Queen's funeral, to do the needful.

Queen Elizabeth II assumed the throne in 1952, in another period of rapid change. Ten days before she became Queen, Black Saturday rioters burned down the business district of Cairo, particularly targeting British businesses. Nine months later, the Crown declared martial law in Kenya and viciously suppressed the Mau Mau rising, in which at least 11,000 were killed. Ironically, that was precisely where the Queen was honeymooning in a treehouse—amidst a large company including Jim Corbett when she received news of her father's death, and the princess who climbed a tree famously came back down a queen. In Asia, the Jewel in the Crown went native, with Jawaharlal Nehru heading the first elected government in May. When Elizabeth took the throne, it was sunset in the empire on which the sun had never set. Its shrinkage has continued, and today, the UK is neither united nor a real kingdom. She kept up appearances in an institution that has been irrelevant for 75 years but memories of occasional brutality and systematic extraction, especially in Africa, remain.

Some African interests have reacted sharply to the Queen's death. The South African party, Economic Freedom Fighters, said it does not mourn the Queen because she never acknowledged or apologised for the empire's atrocities. Indeed, the argument that the Queen was restricted to a ceremonial role by the institutional protocol is a poor excuse. Institutions are made up of people who have agency and choice. The voice of Elizabeth would have drowned out that of the establishment had she chosen to settle historical accounts. But out of respect, most of the former colonies let it pass.

Over a century ago, the Irish trade unionist James Connolly pointed out that deference to royalty interferes with mental hygiene: "The mind accustomed to political kings can easily be reconciled to social kings—capitalist kings of the workshop, the mill, the railway, the ships and the docks. Thus, coronation and king's visits [George V was swimming into Connolly's ken at the time] are by our astute never sleeping masters made into huge Imperialist propagandist campaigns in favour of political and social schemes against democracy."

> She kept up appearances in an institution that has been irrelevant for 75 years but memories of occasional brutality and systematic extraction ... remain

Black Lives Matter has made the UK itself aware of its historical lack of democratic values. In 2020, protesters in Bristol dumped the statue of slave trader Edward Colston in the drink. There is uneasiness about the dirty money from slavery and conquest in the very foundations of Britain's institutions. The East India Company was the world's first transnational narcotics cartel, forcing peasants in Bihar and UP to grow poppy and attacking China to create a market for opium. The Doctrine of Lapse used against Indian states like Awadh and Jhansi was blatant trespass. And the Queen's prime minister Winston Churchill is understood to have precipitated the Bengal Famine of 1943. By modern conceptions of rights, these were criminal projects, and the Queen's death brought them up again.

But it also resurrected a delightful tradition: telling the bees. The day after she died, John Chapple, 79, the beekeeper of Buckingham Palace, bound the beehives with black ribbons and told their inhabitants that their mistress was dead, that King Charles III was their new master. They should be nice to him and not buzz off because you can't live life king size without a spot of honey on your breakfast toast.

Telling the bees is an ancient Celtic tradition, from when bees were believed to flit between worlds. But maybe it's only because until colonialism began in earnest, Megasthenes, the Greek ambassador to the Mauryan court, was perhaps the only European to have encountered sugarcane. Until the slave-powered Caribbean cane plantations were set up in Britain, sweetness meant honey. No wonder Melissa ('honeybee' in Greek) remains a popular name.

The UK press dismissed telling the bees as superstition. They had earlier ridiculed Prince Charles for conversing with plants and trees, which kept him "somewhat sane". But when it was discovered that plants could communicate, they declared that he was ahead of his time.

Bees also have a language—an aerial dance which workers perform to point their colleagues to a good patch of flowers by describing the angle at which the sun strikes the eye. Maybe the Queen's bees understood what the beekeeper told them. Maybe they danced in reply. If not, perhaps King Charles III would be happy to talk to them about it.

Goodbye, Roger that!

Apropos of Time to say goodbye (Sep 16). All good things inevitably come to an end. So did Swiss legend Roger Federer's 24-year-long tennis career. His trophy-laden tryst with the sport left the world astonished and awestruck not once, but multiple times over the years. And now, the tennis world has a void.
R Sivakumar, Chennai

Federer's poetry in motion

What a glorious career it has been for Federer. He strode the tennis arena like a colossus and he played his games like, as they say, 'poetry in motion'. Now, a new set of players is set to rule the court. But, there only was, is and will be, one Roger—he will be missed.
C M Umanath, Calicut

Tennis world has lost a gem

Curtains down for the most illustrious tennis player Roger Federer. Tennis will not be the same again. Roger, you have brought glory to the tennis world with your touch and volley game. You will be missed.
C K R Nathan, Ghaziabad

Sino-Indian instability

China is in an expansion mode and it will be an uphill task to handle it. It does not care for global opinion. India should continue to strive for peace, but at the same time, be ready for any eventuality as China wants to stall our progress. Why India is going in for trade with a hostile state—with more imports and fewer exports—is not clear.

E-bike precautions

Apropos of After e-bike fire, quality control of batteries need of hour (Sept 16). The editorial rightly points out that quality control is necessary. Essentially, if EV technology was adopted to cut CO2 emissions, then it needs to be responsibly manufactured as well. Companies must take the precautions cited.

Cloudy days for Congress

Apropos of Azad's exit a big loss for Congress (Sept 16). With multiple internal conflicts and defections of both junior and senior leaders (like Azad), the Congress' golden days are over. Azad's reasons for quitting are valid. The BJP's dream of a Congress-mukt Bharat may end up coming true.

Billionaires, billion problems

The column, A billionaire and a few billion people (Sept 16), points out that liberal economic policies are the root cause of the widening disparity between the rich and the poor. The implementation is just as much of a culprit. Go to any bank for a loan for a small enterprise, and you will get a reality check!

Top court took years to green-flag arrival of African cheetahs

After blocking their entry in 2013, SC finally gave its go-ahead for cheetahs in 2020

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

TWO years after the Supreme Court had green flagged the project to introduce African cheetahs in various sites while ordering proper study on the subject, India will today welcome the big cats as prime Minister narendra Modi will release them into an MP wildlife sanctuary.

However, the occasion also reminds of legal tangles that initially blocked their arrivals and how the top court of India, first stopping their entry, ultimately agreed to let them in.

The proposal to bring the cheetah, which was declared extinct in the country in 1952 back, was initiated by the Wildlife Trust of India in 2009. A decision was taken by experts from across the world, the Environment Ministry, representatives of the state governments to conduct site surveys for exploring the reintroduction potential of the cheetahs.

The expert panel set up by the central government in 2010 after site surveys recommended Kuno Palpur as the preferred location for their introduction. Based on this the MoEF around 2012 had decided to import African Cheetahs from Namibia to India and to introduce the same at Kuno. However, the plan was stalled by the SC's forest bench of Justices KS Radhakrishnan and CK Prasad on April 15 2013, when it quashed the order of MoEF to introduce African Cheetahs into Kuno by saying that the same "could not stand in the eye of law."

In 2017, the National Tiger Conservation Authority ("NTCA") had again approached SC seeking its permission to introduce the species in suitable sites in India submitting that African Cheetahs would be introduced on an experimental basis in a careful chosen habitat, will be nurtured and watched to see whether it can adapt to the Indian conditions. NTCA had also assured the court that the species would be shifted to another habitable forest in case them facing some difficulties.

A bench of the then CJI SA Bobde, BR Gavai and Surya Kant on January 28, 2020 however fast-tracked the introduction of cheetah by constituting a committee of experts to be headed by former IAS Dr MK Ranjit Sinh. "It is not desirable that this action of introducing the African Cheetahs into India be left to the sole discretion of the NTCA but we consider it appropriate that NTCA be guided and directed by the Committee of Experts in the field who would carry out the survey for the best location for introducing the African Cheetahs in India and take a careful decision about the viability of introducing this animal on a larger scale. The expert committee shall also supervise the entire process and NTCA shall be guided to act in co-ordination with the expert committee," the court's order said. The SC's order paved a way for reintroduction of Cheetahs in National Parks under 'Action Plan for Introduction of Cheetah in India'.

Namibia big cats to get Indian home today

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

IN a last-minute change in plans, Madhya Pradesh's Gwalior and not Jaipur in Rajasthan will be the place of disembarkation for the eight cheetahs (five females and three males) being flown out of Windhoek in Namibia.

"The government was working on both the routes but the Gwalior route was decided as it would save time," an MP government official said.

A customised Boeing 747-400 aircraft carrying the felines will land at Gwalior's Maharajpura IAF airbase at dawn on Saturday before they will be taken to the Kuno National Park (KNP) in Sheopur district in a helicopter.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who will release three of the eight cheetahs his 72nd birthday on Saturday, will reach KNP at 10:45 am. The felines will be quarantined for a month. They will then be moved to a larger enclosure for three months before being let out in the wild.

Releasing the felines is part of the efforts to revitalise India's wildlife, a PMO statement said.

A 10-feet-high platform has been put up for Modi at KNP. The cheetahs will be housed in a six-foot cage below this. The PM will turn a lever to to release the big cats. After that, he will address Cheetah Mitras (friends of cheetahs) from surrounding villages, who are tasked with educating villagers about handling the big cats, should they stray into their neighbourhood.

South Africa to send 12 big cats

A total of 20 big cats (eight from Namibia and 12 from South Africa) are planned to be brought to India under the Cheetah Project. The second batch from South Africa will be brought to Kuno, after an MoU is signed

Villagers elated as land prices up near Kuno National Park

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

EVEN before their much awaited arrival at the Kuno National Park (KNP) in Sheopur district of Madhya Pradesh, Cheetah has kindled the hope of agricultural and economic prosperity in four districts of the state. The Ranthambore National Park in Sawai Madhopur district of Rajasthan is barely two hours (75km) drive from the KNP.

With Cheetahs being brought to the 748sqkm jungles of KNP, nearby areas are abuzz with hopes of prosperity. Land prices have gone up manifold in villages adjoining the KNP. Prices of land Tiktoli and Moravan villages, both located close to the KNP, have zoomed due to enhanced focus on the tourism and hospitality industry.

With Tiktoli being largely a tribal-dominated village where law prohibits selling of land to non-tribals, hoteliers and resort owners have been showing keen interest on Moravan village, which houses around 200 families (mostly non-tribals).

Indigenous push: IAF to get first Light Combat Helicopters batch

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE first squadron of the Light Combat Helicopters (LCH) is ready to get commissioned into the Indian Air Force (IAF) in the state of Rajasthan next month. The training sorties of the helicopters at the base have begun. The Indian Air Force will induct the first batch of 10 Make-in-India LCH at Jodhpur-based Air Force Station in Rajasthan on October 3, in the presence of Defence Minister, Rajnath Singh.

The Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) in March this year had approved procurement of 15 Light Combat Helicopter (LCH) Limited Series Production at the cost of ₹3,887 Cr along with Infrastructure sanctions worth ₹377 crore. Of these, five LCH are to be inducted into the Indian Army.

Light Combat Helicopter Limited Series Production (LSP) is an indigenously designed, developed and manufactured state of the art modern combat helicopter containing approximately 45% indigenous content by value which will progressively increase to more than 55% for SP version, says the Ministry of Defence (MoD).

The helicopter is powered by twin Shakti engines and has a range of 550 km and maximum speed of 268 kmph. It is compatible for high altitude deployment with a capability to take off and land at about 5000 metre (16,400 feet).

It should be noted that the IAF is yet in the process of finalising the number of LCHs to be procured. These choppers may replace the ageing Russian Mi-25 and Mi-35 attack choppers.

In June this year, the Indian Army inducted the first LCH squadron in Bengaluru. It will be moved to Eastern Command along the Line of Actual Control (LCH) next year. It has planned to induct 95 LCHs.

As per the MoD, "This helicopter is equipped with requisite agility, maneuverability, extended range, high altitude performance and around-the-clock, all-weather combat capability to perform roles of Combat Search and Rescue (CSAR), Destruction of Enemy Air Defence (DEAD), Counter Insurgency (CI) operations, against slow moving aircraft and Remotely Piloted Aircraft (RPAs), high altitude bunker busting operations, Counter Insurgency operations in jungle and urban environments and support to ground forces and would be a potent platform to meet the operational requirements of Indian Air Force & Indian Army."

State of the art technologies and systems compatible with stealth features such as reduced Visual, Aural, Radar and IR signatures and crashworthiness features for better survivability have been integrated in LCH. Several key aviation technologies like Glass Cockpit and composite airframe structure have been indigenised.

Marital rape: SC to hear pleas on Delhi HC's judgment in Feb 2023

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court in February 2023 will hear pleas challenging the Delhi High Court's split verdict on the issue of criminalisation of marital rape as it sought Centre's response on Friday. The exception given in section 375 of the IPC states that sexual intercourse or sexual acts by a man with his adult wife is not rape. "Leave granted. List matter in February. Issue notice. This position is existing for a long time, we'll examine it," bench of Justices Ajay Rastogi and BV Nagarathna said.

Pleas challenging HC's order that were filed by NGO's Rit Foundation, All India Democratic Women's Association (AIDWA) and Khushboo Saifi argued that marital rape exception created an unfair distinction between married and unmarried women. It was also argued that it violated the privacy, dignity and right of choice of a married woman.

HC's May 11 order had come in a batch of petitions challenging the exception which exempts prosecution of husbands for non-consensual sexual intercourse with their wives. Under the exception given in section 375 of the IPC, sexual intercourse or sexual acts by a man with his wife, the wife not being minor, is not rape. Justice Rajiv Shakdher had favoured striking down the exemption while Justice C Hari Shankar had refused to declare it unconstitutional. However, saying that substantial questions of law are involved, the bench had granted a certificate to appeal to SC.

Justice Shakdher said marital rape with one stroke deprives nearly one-half of the population of equal protection of the laws. Adding that it would be tragic if a married woman's call for justice is not heard even 162 years after the enactment of IPC, he had said, Justice C Harishankar had however said that it would be a complete misadventure for the court to strike down the exception and, thereafter, leave it to the legislature to effect other necessary amendments.

Notice in plea against online gaming ban

The Supreme Court on Friday issued notice in Karnataka government's plea challenging HC's order of striking down law banning online games with stake. Bogus bidders beware! PM mementos up for sale

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

THE culture ministry has put in a multi-layered mechanism in place to prevent 'non-serious' or 'bogus' bidders from participating and quoting exceptionally high prices for souvenirs in the fourth edition of e-auction of mementos presented to the Prime Minister Narendra Modi starting Saturday, coinciding with his birthday.

The government targets to earn ₹2.5 crore from the auctioning. The funds raised through the auction will contribute to Namami Gange Programme, the flagship project for conservation and rejuvenation of Ganga.

The officials said that this year Aadhaar — 12-digit unique identity number — has been made mandatory to bid for any article. Repeated bidding for an article by the same participant has also been prohibited. The ministry has also fixed a ceiling price for each object up for sale. Union culture and tourism minister G Kishan Reddy on Friday said that the ministry is launching the auction with new norms to make the entire process transparent and only to encourage genuine buyers. "Last year, some enthusiastic youths quoted exceptionally high prices — 250-500 per cent of the base and even more. But in the end, they didn't turn up. Given the scenario, therefore, to bring transparency in the process and attract genuine bidders, news norms have been introduced; uploaded on the website.

CBI says Partha mastermind of school jobs scam

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

SEEKING custodial interrogation of Partha Chatterjee, the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Friday described the former Trinamool Congress minister as the mastermind in the alleged school recruitment scam. The central agency arrested the former member of Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's cabinet on Friday and sought his custodial interrogation. In its submission before the magistrate of a special court in Alipore, the CBI said over 400 unfit candidates were given jobs while the more qualified ones were deprived.

On Thursday, the CBI, which is probing the irregularities in recruitment of teachers and non-teaching staff through the School Service Commission, arrested the former chairman of Board of Secondary Education, Kalyanmoy Ganguly, in connection with the scam.

Chatterjee was arrested by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in July. Following the arrest, ₹49.8 crore in cash was recovered from the apartments of his close aide Arpita.

Chatterjee was taken to the CBI's Nizam Palace office from the court. "We need to examine him thoroughly and cross-check with him the statements of Ganguly," said an officer.

1 yr after 'suicide', CBI finds ₹3 cr, 10 quintal ghee, gold in seer's room

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

ALMOST a year after the death of Mahant Narendra Giri, the chief of Akhil Bharatiya Akhara Parishad (ABAP), in mysterious circumstances, a three-member team of the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) opened the sealed rooms of Baghambari Gaddi in Prayagraj and found around ₹3 crore in cash, ornaments worth crores and 10 quintal ghee.

The rooms were opened on Thursday by the sleuths investigating the seer's death after his successor, Mahant Balbir Giri, moved court demanding that all the property and cash inside the math must be returned.

The officials handed over the recovered items to the mutt authorities.

Balbir Giri has succeeded Mahant Narendra Giri, 62, who was also the head of Baghambari Gaddi at the time of his death on September 20 last year. The seer was found hanging with a rope from the ceiling fan of his room. The Uttar Pradesh government had handed over the investigation to the CBI.

A senior officer privy to the probe disclosed that besides the cash, gold and silver ornaments and ghee, property-related documents were also found in the room where the late seer used to live.

The CBI had taken over the case of seer's death on September 24, lodging an FIR against Anand Giri, a disciple of Narendra Giri, under charges of abetment to suicide. Thereafter, the premises were sealed.

After a month of investigation, CBI filed a charge sheet in connection with the case stating that Anand Giri, Adya Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari circulated an objectionable audio tarnishing Narendra Giri's image and mounted immense psychological pressure on him which led him to take his life. The three are currently lodged in the Naini Central jail.

Pocso case against MP pvt school mgmt for sexual assault on 3-yr-old

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

FOUR top officials of a prominent private school in Bhopal have been booked under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act (POCSO) Act 2020.

The Bhopal police acted against the school's chairperson, director (operations), principal and the transport in-charge under Section 188 IPC and Section 21 of POCSO Act late Thursday night, after a nursery student was allegedly sexually assaulted by the driver inside the school bus on Sept 8.

A police officer said the four were booked after hours of questioning of at least 30 staff members of the school where 2,200 students study.

The police said the four officials were prima facie responsible for the non-functioning CCTV camera installed in the bus and covering up the matter for three days in the name of internal probe.

"Though the parents reported the matter to the school administration on Sept 9, instead of reporting it to the police immediately, the school administration misled them in the name of conducting an internal probe. It was on Sept 12 that the family approached the police," said an officer.

SEPT 15: MP CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan meets police and education officials, asks why no action was initiated against school

SEPT 16: SIT probe reveals bus driver was given clean chit during police verification, even after being accused in two criminal cases earlier

The police arrested the school bus driver and a female caretaker on Sept 12. Police Commissioner Makarand Deouskar has formed a special investigation team, which is working to file a charge sheet within 10 days.

Meanwhile, the MP State Commission for Child Rights has also taken up the issue. "Two more nursery students could have been sexually assaulted, as their uniforms were also changed inside the same school bus the same day," Brajesh Chouhan, the Commission's member, said.

"Though CCTV camera was installed in the bus, its digital video recorder didn't have any memory card. Also, the GPS system of the bus hadn't been updated. It was among the 10 buses of the school, whose GPS system was awaiting an update," said Chouhan.

The child rights body whose team spent around nine hours at the school on Thursday, also said that the accused possibly had no experience of operating a school bus.

"Also, the counselling of the girl by a state-certified counsellor suggests that the driver could have molested her previously too. We will write to the police to investigate these aspects also," said Chouhan.

Climate change: Assam has 15 of India's 25 most vulnerable districts

PRASANTA MAJUMDAR @ Guwahati

POLICYMAKERS stare agape at fresh climate change data for Assam which has 15 of India's 25 most vulnerable districts.

Southern Assam's Karimganj district, which shares a border with Bangladesh, tops the all-India chart, the state's Minister of Science, Technology and Climate Change Keshab Mahanta told the state Assembly on Friday.

The minister, who did not cite the reasons behind vulnerability, said the state government has been taking some steps to mitigate the problem.

He said the government launched the Chief Minister's Institutional Plantation Programme to enhance carbon stock through the plantation of native species and create awareness among government officials on climate change mitigation.

"The uniqueness of the programme is that the saplings planted have been geo-tagged for the monitoring of their growth for three years. So far, 50,780 institutions under the state government have participated in the programme and 2,43,451 saplings have been planted," Mahanta said.

"Under the CM's Climate-Resilient Village Fellowship Programme, 100 fellows will undertake a study in 100 villages to develop climate resilient models specific to these villages," Mahanta said.

A study by the Centre for Environment, Social and Policy Research, 2012, in collaboration with the Indian Network on Ethics and Climate Change, noted the widespread loss of livelihood options across Assam due to climate disasters, particularly floods and erosion.

Gauhati HC asks TN to allow Assam team to inspect captive elephant

PRASANTA MAJUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Gauhati High Court on Friday issued an order, directing the Tamil Nadu government to allow a four-member Assam team to "inspect" and "verify" the health condition of Joymala – an adult Assam elephant held captive at a temple in the southern state – within three days from the day of receiving the order.

The court directed it to ensure that the team is provided with police protection, "as may be justified in the facts and circumstances of the case".

The Assam government had sent the team, which is led by Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests Hirdesh Mishra, to Tamil Nadu on September 2 to inspect the health condition of the jumbo which was allegedly abused.

> The petitioners have received information from reliable sources that the elephant in question had undergone brutal treatment by the persons holding the animal in captivity
>
> Gauhati High Court

Assam's Advocate General Devajit Saikia told this newspaper the state government had filed a writ petition in the court as the Tamil Nadu government did not grant permission to the team to visit the temple and examine Joymala's health.

He submitted in the court that the state government had made arrangements for the return of Joymala as well as eight other elephants belonging to Assam which are now in Tamil Nadu.

"Initially, the Forest Department of the State of Tamil Nadu had issued NOC for return of the elephant, and had also requested the Assam Government to make payment of the cost for keeping the elephants in custody till their return back to Assam. The Assam Government had also agreed to bear such cost. However, since then, there has been no response from the (Tamil Nadu) departmental officials," the court said.

The court also said that as per the case projected in the writ petition, it appeared that Joymala was transported to Tamil Nadu on the basis of an NOC and Transit Pass issued by the Assam government on September 8, 2011, permitting the animal to be retained in the Nachiyar Temple, Srivilliputhur for a period of three years. However, it said, after the expiry of the term of the NOC, the elephant has not been returned to Assam.

Bodies with torture marks found in recaptured town, says Ukraine

Over 450 graves dug up at mass burial site in Izyum, retaken from Russians just days ago

IZYUM

UKRAINIAN investigators descended on a pine forest outside the recaptured town of Izyum on Friday and began pulling hundreds of hastily buried bodies from the sandy soil.

Kyiv officials said they had counted 450 graves at the mass burial site and found 10 alleged "torture centres" after the Kharkiv region was recaptured from Russian invaders.

Ninety-nine per cent of exhumed bodies had signs of violent death, Ukraine's regional administration head said. "Among the bodies that were exhumed today, 99 per cent showed signs of violent death," Oleg Synegubov, head of Kharkiv regional administration, said on social media.

"There are several bodies with their hands tied behind their backs, and one person is buried with a rope around his neck," he added.

"Russia leaves only death and suffering. Murderers. Torturers," said Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky. Some of the remains exhumed, he said, included children and people who were likely tortured before dying.

In the forest outside Izyum, journalists saw graves topped with makeshift crosses and marked with numbers, with one inscription reading: "Ukrainian army, 17 people. Izyum morgue."

Kyiv's forces recovered a swathe of territory in recent days in a lightning counter-offensive in the east, liberating several towns from Russian forces but also uncovering what they say is a grim legacy of occupation.

Police chief Igor Klymenko said torture rooms were found in the town of Balakliya and elsewhere in Karkhiv, while presidential aide Mykhaylo Podolyak said the mass grave site in Izyum alone held at least 450 bodies.

"In the occupied territories, rampant terror, violence, torture and mass murders have been reigning for months," Podolyak said.

On the main road from Izyum to Kharkiv, a small dirt road leads into a pine forest. On the right-hand side of the lane, about 100 metres into the trees, two men in white overalls were digging the sandy soil.

Soon they reached the first body, exhumed it and placed it in a white plastic body bag. As more bodies appeared, the strong smell of decay spread.

Where identification had been possible, names were attached to the crosses along with dates between early March, when Izyum was still held by Ukraine, and early September, a period of Russian control.

SCO nations agree to create joint list of terrorist groups, cut trade barriers

SAMARKAND

THE Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) plans to prepare a single list of terrorist, separatist and extremist groups whose activities are banned on the territories of the member states, to counter the threat posed by them to the region.

In a joint declaration issued at the end of the annual Summit of the eight-member bloc in the historic Uzbek city of Samarkand, the leaders of the SCO member states, strongly condemned terrorism in all its forms and manifestations.

To counter the threat of chemical and biological terrorism, the SCO members called for the compliance with the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons. "They stress the importance of the early destruction of all declared stockpiles of chemical weapons," the declaration said.

On Afghanistan, the member states called for creating an inclusive government in the war-torn country, which is now ruled by the Taliban. "The member states consider it extremely important to establish an inclusive government in Afghanistan with the participation of representatives of all ethnic, religious and political groups of Afghan society," the declaration said. The grouping also advocated the formation of Afghanistan as an independent, neutral, united, democratic and peaceful state, free from terrorism, war and drugs.

On Iran, the declaration said that the SCO member states consider it important to sustainably implement the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action and called on all participants to strictly fulfill their obligations for its comprehensive implementation. The SCO also called for creating a transparent international energy market and reducing the existing trade barriers. "We call on the countries of the world to jointly create an open, transparent and efficient international energy market, reduce trade barriers, avoid excessive volatility in world energy commodity prices, maintain a healthy, stable and sustainable international energy market," the declaration said. PTI

Argentina hikes interest rate to 75% as inflation nears 100%

BEUNOS AIRES

ARGENTINA'S central bank raised its benchmark interest rate by 5.5% to 75% on Thursday in a bid to curb inflation, which is inching closer to 100%, the Bloomberg reported.

The bank's ninth rate hike this year comes a day after data showed consumer prices rose 79% year-on-year in August, which is the fastest pace in 30 years. "The new rate hike catches up with the rise in current and expected inflation — but may not be sufficient to tame inflation or boost reserves," the Bloomberg quoted Latin American economist Adriana Dupita as saying.

"The substantial uncertainty on inflation and the persistent risk that the peso may soon see a sharper depreciation undermine the ability of the new rate to convince households to save or investors to have a position in pesos," Dupita said.

Meanwhile, economists are expecting Argentina's annual inflation rate to hit 95% this year, a monthly poll published last week showed. By next year, the South American nation's annual inflation rate is expected to reach 84%, and drop to 63% in 2024, according to the poll. The invasion of Ukraine by Russia, the world's third largest oil producer, sent crude oil prices through the roof.

Gig drivers fear hardship after fuel price hike

A 30 per cent hike in fuel prices has spurred hundreds of drivers of the most popular ride-hailing apps to hold protests across Indonesia as they struggle to make ends meet. "I sometimes don't eat a proper meal the whole day to allocate my cash for fuel. If I don't have fuel, how can I work?," asked Ridwan, a contractor for Gojek — which alongside Singapore's Grab is among Asia's most valuable start-ups. The drivers operate in an unregulated market and critics say the firms exploit them as "partners" or contractors, taking large cuts of their daily income. To cut Indonesia's deficit during rising global inflation and soaring energy prices, President Joko Widodo slashed fuel subsidies. It pushed the price of Petralite — Indonesia's cheapest fuel choice — from about 7,650 rupiah to 10,000 per litre. "Don't let poor become poorer," a Gojek driver said.

Starbucks hit by massive data breach

Starbucks Singapore said on Friday its customer database was breached online, with local media reporting that 2,00,000 people's information was stolen. The coffee chain said in an email to customers that it had "discovered... some unauthorised access" to details such as names, gender, dates of birth, phone numbers and home addresses. "Relevant authorities have been informed and Starbucks Singapore is assisting them with the matter," said the email.

THAILAND

Soldier charged over shooting at army facility

Thai police have charged a soldier with murder over a shooting at a military training facility that left two people dead and another wounded, officials said on Friday. Sergeant Major Yongyuth Mungkornkim, a clerk at the Royal Thai Army War College, will stand trial in a military court on Wednesday. He faces charges of premeditated murder, attempted murder, possessing a gun in a public place and firing a gun in a public place. National deputy police spokesperson Kissana Phathanacharoen told AFP the military court would decide whether or not to grant bail. Yongyuth's mental and physical health was being assessed by medical professionals at a hospital, said Kissana. Police investigators have 84 days to conduct their investigation and report on the case before forwarding documents to the military court's attorney.

India, US 'sabse achhe dost', Trump's new slogan to woo Indian-Americans

WASHINGTON

FORMER US president Donald Trump has coined an India-US friendship slogan in Hindi as part of his efforts to woo the influential Indian-American community before the mid-term elections in November.

Bharat and America sabse achhe dost Trump is seen rehearsing and saying in a video released by the Republican Hindu Coalition (RHC). The slogan in English means "India and the United States are best friends". In the short 30-second video, Trump is seen seated with his supporter Chicago-based businessman Shalabh Kumar from the Republican Hindu Coalition.

The new slogan is inspired by the phenomenal success of the 2016 slogan of Trump in Hindi Abki Baar Trump Sarkar which had caught the imagination of the Indian-Americans then and had played a key part in his victories in some of the key swing states. Kumar, who has been instrumental in both Trump's slogans Abki Baar Trump Sarkar and Bharat and America sabse achhe dost, told PTI in an interview this week that he and the RHC plan to run the former president's latest slogan in the ethnic Indian media to gain Indian-American support and vote for Republicans the November 8 mid-term elections.

Political observers and the latest polls indicate that Republicans are most likely to regain the majority in the House of Representatives. "The end goal is to heavily support five (Republican) candidates for Senate where the margin of victory is going to be less than 50,000 votes. Some might be even 10,000 votes or 5,000 votes," Kumar said. Indian-Americans comprise more than 1 per cent of the total US population.

Sirisena named suspect in Easter day bombings

COLOMBO

A Sri Lankan court on Friday named the country's former president Maithripala Sirisena as a suspect in the 2019 Easter bombings in which 270 peoplewere killed.

The Colombo Fort magistrate's court, which pronounced the judgement, accused Sirisena of neglecting intelligence reports on the impending attack leading to the bombings. The court has now ordered Sirisena, 71, to appear before it on October 14.

Sirisena is accused of ignoring warnings on the attacks and not ordering preventive action due to political differences with his then prime minister Ranil Wickremesinghe.

The former president was earlier held as responsible for the attack by a probe panel he was forced to appoint following pressure from the Catholic Church and the relatives of the victims. He had denied the allegation against him.

The special presidential probe had also found a host of other top defence officials, including former police chief Pujith Jayasundera and former defence secretary Hemasiri Fernando, guilty of ignoring prior intelligence. The panel report had recommended criminal action against Sirisena and the other officials.

Ousted president Gotabaya Rajapaksa, who had succeeded Sirisena, also came under pressure to implement the findings of the probe panel where Sirisena was found culpable of committing the crime. However, he had refused to act as Sirisena had by then became the chair of the ruling SLPP coalition.

Friday's court order came as a result of a plaint filed by a victim alongside the National Catholic Committee for Justice to Easter Sunday Attack Victims.

On April 21, 2019, nine suicide bombers belonging to the local Islamist extremist group National Thawheed Jamaat linked to ISIS carried out a series of blasts that tore through three churches and as many luxury hotels in Sri Lanka.

The attack stirred a political storm as the then government headed by President Sirisena and Prime Minister Wickremesinghe were blamed for their inability to prevent the attacks despite prior intelligence being made available.

On the third anniversary of the Easter terror attack in April, then Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa had vowed that the Sri Lankan government will not rest until justice has been served to the guilty behind the 2019 attacks. PTI

China delegation barred from seeing Queen's coffin

London: The UK has refused permission for a high-level Chinese government delegation to attend Queen Elizabeth's Lying-in-State at Westminster Hall within the Parliament complex before the funeral at Westminster Abbey here on September 19, according to UK media reports on Friday. House of Commons Speaker Sir Lindsay Hoyle is said to have refused a request for access to Westminster Hall due to Chinese sanctions against five British MPs and two peers for accusing Beijing of mistreating Uighur Muslims in Xinjiang, Politico and the BBC have reported. While the House of Commons said it did not comment on security matters, the media reports said China would have a presence at the funeral but not be allowed into the Parliament building.

TAX CASE

Dubai court orders PIO to pay $1.25 bn to Denmark

DUBAI

A British man accused by Denmark of masterminding a $1.7 billion tax fraud has been ordered by a Dubai court to pay Copenhagen's tax authority $1.25 billion, court filings seen on Friday show, just days after another Dubai court rejected an extradition order for him.

The order by the Dubai Court of Appeal against Sanjay Shah comes as part of a civil case filed four years ago by Denmark's tax authority, who have been pursuing him as part of their investigation in one of the country's largest-ever tax fraud case. Shah has maintained his innocence in the case while fighting extradition. A spokesman for Shah, Jack Irvine, said Shah's lawyers planned to appeal the ruling. That appeal would be heard by Dubai's Court of Cassation, the emirate's highest court.

Denmark has accused Shah of masterminding an elaborate tax scheme for three years beginning in 2012 involving foreign businesses pretending to own shares in Danish companies and claiming tax refunds for which they were not eligible. The Danish tax authority, Skattestyrelsen, filed the civil case in Dubai against Shah in 2018. In its decision Wednesday, the Dubai Court of Appeal said Denmark had sought $1.9 billion from Shah and his alleged accomplices. Shah's lifestyle on Dubai's luxurious palm-shaped island over the past few years had sparked outrage in Denmark. After Danish authorities signed an extradition agreement with the UAE, Dubai police arrested Shah in June. Shah is one of several suspects in the tax scheme sought by Danish authorities. PTI

Advantage Netanyahu as Arab bloc splits

A bloc of Arab parties has split ahead of Israel's fifth elections in less than four years, which could dilute the minority's political influence and aid former Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's return to power

SPLIT COULD DAMPEN ARAB TURNOUT

Nationalist Balad party will run separately from the other two parties in the Joint List. If it does not meet the minimum threshold, Balad would not enter the next parliament and its votes would essentially be wasted

The disunity could also dampen overall turnout among Israel's Arab minority, which accounts for 20% of Israel's population

Arab parties have helped block Netanyahu from returning to power in recent elections. A fourth Arab party, the Islamist Ra'am, also broke from the Joint List and made history last year by joining a governing coalition for the first time

WILL YAIR LAPID HAVE THE LAST LAUGH?

The fracturing of the Joint List would appear to benefit Netanyahu by diluting the influence of his most strident opponents

However, without the hard-line Balad, the other two parties might be more open to joining a coalition led by the current caretaker prime minister, Yair Lapid, a center-left politician and Netanyahu's main opponent

It's unclear, however, whether Lapid's potential right-wing allies would accept such an alliance

POUND SLIDES TO 37-YR-LOW AGAINST DOLLAR

LONDON

BRITAIN'S pound sterling tanked to a 37-year dollar low against US dollar on Friday as weak UK retail sales stoked fears of global recession.

Sterling slid to $1.1351, the lowest level since 1985, on news that British retail sales tumbled by far more than forecast in August as shoppers faced rampant inflation.

Sales by volume dived 1.6 per cent last month, more than triple expectations.

Eurozone and Asian stock markets tumbled but London pushed into positive territory as the weak pound boosted exporters. Sterling has hit a series of 1985 lows in recent weeks, also as the US Federal Reserve implements aggressive hikes interest rate hikes.

"Markets are in a lot of pain, and the UK's retail data has made things only worse for traders as it clearly pointed out one thing: an imminent recession," said AvaTrade analyst Naeem Aslam.

"When you look at the sterling against the dollar, it seems like there are no buyers out there."

Elsewhere, Frankfurt equities dived 1.5 per cent and Paris shed 1.2 percent as investors digested confirmation of record-high inflation in the eurozone.

"Data for August confirm that price pressures are very strong and broad-based" with eurozone inflation at 9.1 percent, said Capital Economics analyst Jack Allen-Reynolds.

"The European Central Bank will need to continue hiking interest rates aggressively at forthcoming meetings."

The ECB had last week hiked its key rate by a historic 75 basis points, and markets expect a similar-sized move at the October policy meeting.

Asian equities also dropped Friday, tracking Wall Street losses as investors express concern over persistently high consumer prices and the increasing likelihood of further interest rate hikes.

The Fed and Bank of England are widely expected to ramp up borrowing costs next week. The US central bank has lifted borrowing costs by 75 basis points at each of its last two meetings.

Asian investors meanwhile shrugged off brighter data from powerhouse economy China. AFP

Market crashes nearly 2% on recession fears

Fall comes as IMF and World Bank warn about looming recession fears and policy tightening by central banks

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AFTER a strong resistance, India's equity market succumbed to global recession fears on Friday. The BSE Sensex nosedived 1,093.22 points or 1.82%, to settle at 58,840.79 and the broader NSE Nifty50 index fell 346.55 points or 1.94% to close at 17,530.85.

This is the third consecutive session when the two indices ended in the red. On Friday alone, the market cap of BSE-listed firms fell to ₹279.68 lakh crore from ₹285.87 lakh crore, causing a loss of ₹6.19 lakh crore to investors.

Top Asian indices such as Shanghai SE Composite Index, Nikkei 225 and Hang Seng fell between 1% and 2.30%, respectively, on Friday. The fall came as the IMF and the World Bank warned about looming recession fears and aggressive policy tightening by the central banks. The US Fed is expected to go for an aggressive rate hike of 75 bps next week after the country reported higher-than-expected consumer inflation for the month of August at 8.3%.

Figures based on Friday's closing

This, experts say, will tighten liquidity in the equity market and is a big negative for emerging markets like India. Foreign institutional investors remained net sellers on Friday, selling shares worth ₹3,260 crore. "Indian markets today chose to mirror global cues after outperforming global peers in the recent past.

Weaker domestic flows for last month despite SIPs maintaining their run rate led to profit taking, as all sectoral indices ended in the red. As global investors brace for a further interest rate hike post the US inflation data released recently, the RBI too has its task cut out in India when they meet at the end of this month," said S Ranganathan, head of research at LKP Securities.

Ajit Mishra, VP - research, Religare Broking, said the last two days of slide have engulfed the gains of the last week and a fall below 17,500 in Nifty may result in a further slide.

"We recommend maintaining a cautious stance and limiting positions. Among the sectoral pack, banking is still looking comparatively stronger so participants can continue with 'buy on dips' in private banking names," he added. Selling pressure was seen in IT, realty and auto pack.

A number of agencies cutting down their forecasts for India's economic growth after June quarter GDP data have started weighing on investors' sentiment. Fitch Ratings cut its forecast for India's GDP growth to 7% for FY23 from 7.8% announced earlier, while Moody's cut its real growth forecast to 7.7% for calendar year 2022 from an earlier projection of 8.8%.

RECESSION FEAR LOOMS AS WORLD FIGHTS INFLATION

SUNITHA NATTI

IT now appears certain that the global economy is escaping the bear, only to fall to the lion.

If 2022 is all about our universal fight against the inflation wrecking ball, it's the central banks' crusade against price rise with aggressive rate hikes that's likely to land us in a global recession, the World Bank confirmed as much on Friday.

In a follow up to its previous warning issued in June, the multi-lateral agency reminded that many countries can't avoid a recession and how tight monetary policies could 'cause significant financial stress' and trigger a global recession in 2023! Global GDP growth would slow to 0.5%, alongside a 0.4% contraction in per capita growth, meeting the technical definition of a global recession, it added. In fact, the IMF and several private forecasts issued similar warnings.

As we speak, the world is witnessing its steepest slowdown since 1970. We are yet to absorb the economic downturn in the US and the European Union, which will have considerable impact on emerging economies including India. The news that China is bracing for a slowdown worse than 2020, followed by the slack in the Japanese economy only makes one thing certain: We are on the edge of the blade situation and as the World Bank noted, all it needs is a nudge to tip the global economy into a recession.

Its economists, however, assured that it's 'not all doom and gloom,' and urged policymakers to shift focus from consumption to production. They want central banks to communicate policy decisions clearly to reduce the degree of tightening needed as big rate increases raise the risk of recession and slows down economies. The warning comes ahead of the US Federal Reserve and the Bank of England policy reviews, both of which are likely to raise rates next week.

Policymakers first erred in acknowledging the likelihood of persistent inflation, which touched a four-decade high in some countries. Much of this was due to the staggering $17 trillion pandemic-related fiscal stimulus, which can be best described paraphrasing author David Pilling's words: Only in economics is endless expansion seen as a virtue. In biology, it's called cancer.

It was too late, but as soon as the kindness party ended, inflation reared its ugly head pressing central banks into action. Until a point, it seemed as though monetary authorities had a game in hand, but the Russian war, supply chain bottlenecks, high commodity prices and others changed course and the rate hikes originally meant to rescue economies are instead driving them towards a recession. If it happens, it'll only prove how much policymakers have been wrong in either direction.

For now, US mortgage rates peaked to a 2008-high, making borrowing costs steeper for consumers and businesses, denting demand. Back home too, interest rates could be on the boil with the RBI likely raising rates further this fortnight and follow up with more in December. Offering a crumb of comfort is private consumption, which saw a 26% jump in Q2 over last year, but is hostage to inflationary pressures and rising interest rates. Even though India is in the cusp of a recession, policymakers have a challenging task to maintain the economic momentum.

BANKING

Sitharaman asks banks to become more tech savvy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

FINANCE Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday exhorted the banks to build a system so that they can communicate with each other to provide better services to the customers.

Speaking on the 75th annual general meeting of Indian Banking Association, she said the use of technologies help in bringing efficiencies in the system and also in the detection of banking frauds.

"Use of Web3, data analysis, Artificial Intelligence, deep dive into data -- all of these should have some coordination by the IBA. Leveraging AI should be an immediate priority for the banks, especially in fraud detection and generating early warning signs about something going wrong," Sitharaman stated.

Emphasizing on the importance of cyber network, Sitharaman asked the bankers whether they have adequate firewalls and other protections to check on activities like hacking etc. She also highlighted the need for using local language with the customers, considering the diversity of the country. "Please review the people getting posted at branches, people who cannot speak local language should not be assigned to roles dealing with customers. You must have a lot more sensible ways of recruiting people," the minister added.

Patanjali to list 4 firms in next 5 years

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

BABA RAMDEV-promoted Patanjali Group has set a target to achieve ₹1 lakh crore turnover in the next five years and list at least four group firms. According to Ramdev, the Group, at present, has a turnover of ₹40,000 crore.

"Many people mocked us and tried to bring us down when I said Patanjali turnover would be ₹20,000 crore a few years back. Now it is ₹40,000 crore and we are confident that it will be ₹1 lakh crore in the next five years," Ramdev said.

Patanjali Group's revenue got a boost after it acquired Ruchi Soya, which has now been renamed as Patanjali Food, in 2019 through a corporate insolvency resolution process. Ruchi Soya reported ₹24,205 crore revenue from operations in FY22 as against ₹16,382 crore in FY21. Patanjali Ayurved's revenue increased to ₹10,664.46 crore in FY22 compared to ₹9,810.74 crore in FY21. Its net profit came down to ₹740.38 crore in FY22 as against ₹745.03 crore in FY21.

PLANS AHEAD

Patanjali targets ₹1 lakh crore turnover in 5 years

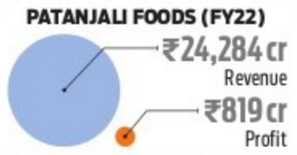
PATANJALI FOODS (FY22)



Four upcoming IPOs: Patanjali Ayurved, Patanjali Medicine, Patanjali Wellness and Patanjali Lifestyle.

M-Cap target: ₹5 lakh crore in 5 yrs

Ramdev said they might list five-seven Group companies in next 5 years but as of now they are sure of four listings. The four firms that would launch an IPO are: Patanjali Ayurved, Patanjali Medicine, Patanjali Wellness and Patanjali Lifestyle. Patanjali by then aims to have a market capitalisation of ₹5 lakh crore with these listed firms. Currently, Patanjali Foods is the only Group firm that is listed on the stock market. However, the IPO of this company was not launched by Patanjali. This company, listed as Ruchi Soya, was bought by Patanjali Ayurved in 2019 for ₹4,350 crore under a resolution process. Patanjali Foods has a market cap of ₹48,000 crore.

Ramdev also claimed that at present Patanjali Group gives 5 lakh employment and in the next 5 years they would generate 5 lakh 'direct' employment. He also came down heavily on the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) after centre-run food testing agency had found adulteration in Patanjali Ghee, among other things. Ramdev said testing capability of government labs is outdated and intentions of officials conducting tests need to be checked as few are found changing parameters to fail Patanjali products.

Trai to bring out consultation paper on Truecaller-like ID feature within month

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) is likely to bring out a consultation paper on a caller ID system, which will show know-your-customer (KYC)-based names on user's phone, within a month or so, as the regulatory body has completed its research on the matter.

A senior official of Trai said the regulatory body has collected the data from all around the world and the consultation paper on this will soon be in public domain. "For the past few months, we had done study on it and gathered data from all over the world. Our staff went to Singapore to understand the implications of the system. Now we are almost ready with the draft," said the official.

The ID system, which is to be introduced by the government, will show KYC-based names on the user's phone. It means if someone calls their real name it will display on the phone screen like Truecaller. However, the regulatory body is of the view that this system will be totally new, different from Truecaller and more authentic.

"Truecaller doesn't show the real name but a profile name. It means, the feature will show your profile name, which can be anything your real name or pseudonym," said the official. "In our ID system, it will show your KYC name, which of course, will be a real profile," he added.

During the study, the Trai official came across many feedbacks, in which many people questioned and said it is not right to display the real name on the screen. At the same time, many opined that this feature would compromise their privacy. On the question of whether this feature would be paid or free, the official said it is too early to comment on it. "It would be decided once we prepare the consultation paper and receive comment or counter comments," he informed.

Currently, Truecaller provides similar services to its consumers and India is its one of the biggest markets.

ED seizes ₹46 crore in HPZ token app fraud case

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) has seized ₹46.67 crore after conducting search operations on premises of banks and payment gateways across multiple locations in connection with an investigation related to the app-based token named HPZ and related entities.

The ED on Friday said the search was conducted on September 14 under the PMLA, 2002, at six business and residential premises in Delhi, Ghaziabad, Mumbai, Lucknow, Gaya and 16 premises of banks and payment gateways' across locations. The probe was conducted based on an FIR filed by Cyber Crime Police Station, Kohima, Nagaland.

HPZ had lured the victims to invest in the firm by prmising their money will double. Payments were received via UPIs and other payment gateways, nodal accounts and individuals. While part-amount was paid to the investors, the remaining amount was diverted to individual and company accounts and from where partly it was siphoned off in virtual currencies. After that, the fraudsters stopped payments and the website became inaccessible, the ED said. HPZ token was operated by Lillion Technocab and Shigoo Technology. The agency found Shigoo Technology was linked to various Chinese-controlled firms. The agency said Mad-Elephant Network Technology in agreement with X10 Financial Services was operating various loan apps (Yo-Yo cash, Tufan Rupees, Coco cash etc.). Also, Su Hui Technology in agreement with Nimisha Finance had operated loan apps. The ED found huge balances in virtual accounts of the entities with payment aggregators. About ₹33.36 crore was found with EaseBuzz, ₹8.21 crore with Razorpay, ₹1.28 crore with Cashfree Payments and ₹1.11 crore with Paytm Payments. Cashfree in a statement said it continues to extend its cooperation to the ED. "We were able to provide the required information within a few hours on the day of enquiry." A EaseBuzz spokesperson said none of the parties mentioned in the ED's statement belonged to its merchant base. "The mentioned entities by authorities were only the counterparties of the merchant, who was using our payment gateway and this merchant had been identified and blocked by us much before the investigation had started, as per our internal risk and compliance process, " the spokesperson said. Razorpay said it has blocked all those suspicious entities and funds associated with them, and have shared their details with authorities.

Bot issue neither new nor unknown: Former head of Twitter India

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

EVER since SpaceX founder Elon Musk announced a $44 billion deal to buy social networking site Twitter, there have been many twists and turns.

At first, he said the Twitter deal is on hold and spoke about its spam and fake accounts and then about bots, and recently, he has accused the social networking site of security lapses.

Manish Maheshwari, Technology entrepreneur and former head of Twitter India, looks at the whole Musk-Twitter saga as a commercial fight. "This is not a fight related to free speech or management philosophy. The core of the fight is the contract price. The contract was done at a price of $54.2 a share, while the markets corrected subsequently and the price per share dropped to $40," he told TNIE.

Musk also spoke a lot about bots. Maheshwari said the issue of bot is neither new nor unknown. "Technology provides tools that can be used to help make the world a better place or it can also be used to hurt people. And tech evolves rapidly while the safeguards and policy frameworks take time to catch-up," he said. With social media playing a significant role in the growth of regional content, the future is now more on regional content and creators. The former head of Twitter India said he is quite bullish on regional content.

Musk-Twitter saga

Maheshwari says Musk-Twitter saga is not a fight related to free speech or management philosophy. The core of the fight is the contract price. The contract was done at a price of $54.2 a share, the price per share dropped to $40

"The next 100 million users are not going to be English speakers. In fact, many of them may not speak even a word of English. The growth will come from reaching and engaging these users with content that is not only in their native language but also understands their tastes and sensibilities," he said.

Maheshwari, in May this year stepped down from start-up Invact Metaversity as its CEO, said he would take a break for a few months and then pursue new opportunities. When asked about it, he said apart from becoming fit, he also got time to delve deeper into emerging technologies and the business landscape.

OIL

Govt reduces windfall profit tax on domestic crude oil

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE government on Friday reduced the windfall profit tax on locally produced crude oil in line with a fall in global rates, and cut the levy on export of diesel and jet fuel (ATF).

At the fifth fortnightly review, the government reduced tax on domestically-produced crude oil to ₹10,500 per tonne from ₹13,300 per tonne.

The levy on the export of diesel was reduced to ₹10 per litre from ₹13.5. Also, the tax on Aviation Turbine Fuel (ATF) exports was cut to Rs 5 a litre from ₹9 with effect from September 17, as per a finance ministry notification issued late Friday night. Global oil prices have fallen to six-month lows this month, leading to a reduction in the windfall profit tax.

The basket of crude oil that India buys has averaged $92.67 per barrel in September as against $97.40 in the previous month. While private refiners Reliance Industries Ltd and Rosneft-based Nayara Energy are the principal exporters of fuels like diesel and ATF, the windfall levy on domestic crude targets producers like state-owned Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) and Vedanta Ltd.

Adani completes ACC, Ambuja acquisition

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

ADANI GROUP has completed the acquisition of Ambuja Cements and ACC, becoming India's second-largest cement manufacturer. The transaction involved the acquisition of Holcim's stake in Ambuja and ACC along with an open offer in both entities as per SEBI Regulations.

Karan Adani, 35, the eldest son of Gautam Adani is likely to oversee the Group's cement business. Currently, he is managing Group's port business.

Soon after the takeover that happened in a quick span of just 4 months when first announced, the two cement companies announced the resignation of their board of directors, including the CEOs and CFOs.

Adani Group named its founder chairman Gautam Adani as the head of Ambuja Cements and Karan was named as a director of both the cement firms and as chairman of ACC. The value of the Holcim stake and open offer consideration for Ambuja Cements and ACC is $6.50 billion, which makes this the largest ever acquisition by Adani, and India's largest ever M&A transaction in infrastructure and materials space, Adani Group said.

FALLING IN LOVE AGAIN

Back from early retirement at 23, Canada's Rebecca now pursuing her late father's dream

Rebecca Marino is looking to finish the year on a high | MARTIN LOUIS

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

FEBRUARY 2017. Rebecca Marino's father received a diagnosis no patient wanted to hear. Cancer. It was terminal. "He was told he had a year-and-a-half to live," she tells this daily. "It was a life-altering moment. When you are faced with the mortality of someone so dear... it made me reflect on my life choices. Was there anything that when I was my father's age, would I look back and say 'I wish I had done this?'"

One of those life choices was her decision to retire from professional tennis as a 23-year-old in 2013 (she had already taken a mini-break). Both the diagnosis and the prognosis jolted her.

"I would love my father to see this so that's when I decided to come back. So it's a very happy thing in a way, coming from a sad thing. Luckily my father was able to see me back in tennis. Unfortunately he passed away in 2020 during the pandemic. But he saw me back in tennis, loving it, he was so supportive, he was so excited, it was like our passion... something we shared so closely was tennis. He was a huge tennis fan. For him to see me playing, it brought him a lot of joy. I am glad I was able to give him that."

When Marino first got into high-level tennis — she dabbled in a bit of badminton before turning professional in the former — she spread joy among Canadians and the wider tennis fraternity. While there was Milos Raonic on the men's side, they finally had a women's player capable of residing in the sport's top table in the women's section. Her promising career continued on its upward trajectory for two years before she breached the top 40 in women's rankings (ranked 38 in the week of July 11, 2011). However, 38 remains her best. By the beginning of 2012, she was No 64. By the time 2013 came around, she was No 420.

Among other things, she felt that pressure to reside at the top table. "I felt at the time there was a lot of pressure," she says. "I wonder sometimes if I put that pressure on myself." Retirement followed. "I had a lot of other things going on. I (did a degree in English literature) went to the University of British Columbia, I had a full-time job as a tennis coach, I was part of the rowing team at the University. I had a regular life, a regular routine."

The decision to overturn her life wasn't taken on a whim. She thought about it for a good six months before conveying it to the people closest to her. What helped make that final push was spending one week at a second rung event in Vancouver. "To stop everything and go back all in on my tennis... I wasn't sure I would even succeed at it again. It was a big scary leap. August 2017 was when I decided to go to training. The thing that pushed me past the edge was an event in Vancouver. They asked me to be a hitting partner. At that time, nobody knew I was thinking of coming back. They just asked me to come help with the tournament. I thought this is a good opportunity to see if I'm comfortable around tennis again, see my level. Whether I could hit with these girls still. How would I feel? By the end of the week I was like 'I can do this'.

Those starting weeks back on the circuit (an ITF meet in Antalya in January 2018 was her first) showed that touch hadn't deserted her — she won a hat-trick of events that lifted her to No 735 in the world. Bigger and more significant wins followed including four wins at the Australian Open (three wins in the qualifying rounds) in 2021. Slowly but steadily, she built her way back up the rankings before breaching the top-100 last month.

Her stated aim, now, is to remain in the top-100 at the end of the year. But she is putting no pressure on herself. "Next goal is probably to be top-100 at the end of the year," she says. "I think it's very achievable. I don't want to put too much pressure, I also think sometimes it's not fair for me to compare my career right now to my career before. I was so much younger, it came so much easier."

Irrespective of whether she achieves that or not, she is 'very proud' of what she managed to do in this third innings of hers.

The Chennai Open field is littered with stories of inspiration. Tatjana Maria, mother of two. Eugenie Bouchard, on the comeback trail after a big shoulder surgery. Nadia Podoroska, hoping to be an inspiration for Argentine girls. You can safely add Marino's story to the collection.

Nadia survives Genie test, makes it to semis

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

FOR a player who's still working her way back to full fitness after taking time out to let her shoulder heal, Eugenie Bouchard has shown no signs of ring rust in the first set of all three matches. In the first match against Joanne Zuger on Monday, she had opened a 4-1 lead before eventually taking the set via a tie-break. In the second match against Karman Kaur Thandi, she again took a big lead. Before the Indian got a grip, the scoreboard said 5-2 in the Canadian's favour. It was a similar script on Friday as well. Before Nadia Podoroska got moving in their quarterfinal, the 28-year-old had opened a big 4-1 lead, before going on to take the first set after a long hold followed by another break of serve.

The script, though, flipped post that more or less one-sided opener. Podoroska refocused, recalibrated and made the majority of the running. In the end, she deserved the 1-6, 6-4, 6-2 scoreline.

While the 28-year-old Bouchard had come into the quarterfinal on the back of a one-day rest, the quirk of the draw meant the Argentine was playing less than 24 hours after surviving a marathon three-setter against Tatjana Maria. It kind of showed in the opening exchanges. Bouchard looked fresher and she was the faster of the two. After the match, she conceded that she was perhaps a bit tired. "I made too many mistakes in the first set as I was a little bit nervous and maybe a bit tired."

Bouchard was also in her element, with winners flowing off both wings. She won 16 of the first 21 points on offer, including 10 in a row. At 4-1 in the first set and the crowd firmly in the Canadian's corner, one sensed that the match was firmly within her grasp. That was when the first cracks peaked through. Bouchard ultimately won the game but it stretched on for more than 15 minutes, saving six break points in the process. The effort she put in visibly took something from her.

In the interim, some storm crowds were gathering after a typically hot day. On the court, Bouchard had gone from smooth to wobbly. The unforced errors count increased while Podoroska, who only recently came back on tour after a 10-month injury layoff, came up with a new strategy: keep the ball in play and ask the Canadian to hit winners. It's fair to say she struggled. She threw the racquet twice after shanks. In another instance, she also whacked the ball on the advertising hoarding after going down two breaks of serve.

Result (quarterfinal): Nadia Podoroska bt Eugenie Bouchard 1-6, 6-4, 6-2; Linda Fruhvirtova bt Varvara Gracheva 6-4, 6-3.

MOC meeting held, big changes likely

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE @ Chennai

THE Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS) list is expected to be revised soon. There was an intense meeting of the Mission Olympic Cell in New Delhi on Friday where decisions were taken to re-draft the list based on performances and world rankings. Their objective was to have a focus group who would be primed for Asian Games next year and the next two Olympics in 2024 and 2028.

It is understood that the members had stressed the need to focus on athletes who are likely to do well at the Asian Games and the Olympics. Some of the sports in the development group is expected to get pruned down from around 245. In core groups, there are about 105. And the core group too will see changes including some top names. London Olympic bronze medallist MC Mary Kom has already announced that she would like to make way for other boxers in the core group. Some big names in badminton, athletics, boxing, swimming, shooting, table tennis are likely to be dropped, especially those not performing. Changes are likely in fencing, wrestling and weightlifting, especially in the development group.

TOPS core group sportsperson gets ₹50,000 as out of pocket allowance, while a development athlete gets ₹25000. They, however, can train under Annual Calendar for Training and Competition scheme if chosen in the national camp.

Eye on early contenders

The top three — Arsenal, Manchester City and Tottenham — are among clubs who'll be in action this weekend in the Premier League. A look at some of the matches from Europe's elite leagues...

Erling Haaland

WOLVES VS MANCHESTER CITY | 5 PM

Defending champions Man City will have a chance to overtake Arsenal when they travel to Wolves. Erling Haaland, who scored an acrobatic winner against his old club Borussia Dortmund, will once again be the man in focus. Having been held to a 1-1 draw in their last league outing, Man City will be looking to get maximum points.

BRENTFORD VS ARSENAL | SUNDAY | 4:30 PM

Arsenal, who currently occupy the No 1 spot in the EPL table, have had a dream start this term. However, there are question marks if they can sustain that. A loss, their first defeat of the season, against Manchester United in their last outing was a big blow. How they fare against a tricky side like Brentford, their next opponent, could offer some hints.

BARCA VS ELCHE | 7:45 PM

Robert Lewandowski had a rare off day against his old club Bayern Munich in the Champions League mid-week and he will be keen to put behind that miss and help Barca against Elche, who sit second from bottom in the La Liga standings. Three points against struggling Elche, who have four defeats in five outings, could help Xavi Hernandez's men to take the top spot. Real Madrid, who occupy the top spot, face a derby test against Atletico later on Sunday and could be without Karim Benzema.

Other matches (EPL): Saturday: Tottenham vs Leicester City (10 PM). Sunday: Brentford vs Arsenal (4.30 AM); Everton vs West Ham (6:45 PM). Live on Star Sports

Ill-suited tactics hands Kaur & Co series defeat

GOMESH S @ Chennai

THE series wasn't supposed to go down the way it did for India. With England not having the services of their three senior-most stars — Heather Knight, Natalie Sciver, and Katherine Brunt — it was their chance to seize the opportunity and register their first T20I series win in the country.

Instead, India went down 1-2. They were largely outdone by an inexperienced England team that has an average age of 23 with two teenage superstars in Alice Capsey (18) and Freya Kemp (17). If Kemp took the Indian bowling apart in Derby, Capsey struck 74 runs in three innings at a strike rate of 148. While it is true the regional contracts and continual backing with investment are the reasons for England producing such talents ready for international cricket, India are still a much better team than how they performed in three T20Is.

If the batting performance in the first T20I was a let down, the one in the third was only worse. On Thursday, the top-order once again crumbled to 35/5 before Deepti Sharma (24), Richa Ghosh (33) and Pooja Vastrakar (19) took them to 122/8. With the ball, the spinner tried their best to drag the chase, but England completed it to win the series.

So, what went wrong for India? In the absence of injured Jemimah Rodrigues, their middle-order was inexperienced to an extent, but two batting collapses in three games and several half-chances missed in both the first and the third T20Is did not help them at all. These things could happen on a given day to any team. After all, the key word from the team management through this tour has been to be "patient" and back the players with enough chances to express themselves.

India women lost by seven wickets in the third T20I against England | ECB

But the most glaring issue for India is how poor they have been tactically through the series. For Sophia Dunkley, a predominantly bottom-handed leg-side strong batter, India had a long-off and a mid-on. On Thursday, apart from the boundaries, almost twice they could have gotten her out at mid-off with leading edges and miscues falling well short. When Renuka Singh, an inswinging medium-pacer, was bowling, India had a third-man behind and Bryony Smith hit her between fine-leg and square-leg fielders who were inside the circle. It seemed like there was no concurrence between the field placements, bowlers' strengths, batters' weaknesses and the plans that were executed.

To have a better chance at winning series and trophies the Indian team management might want to take a hard look at the team combinations, batting positions and more importantly on-field tactics sooner than later.

Brief scores: India 122/8 in 20 ovs (Richa 33; Ecclestone 3/25) lost to England 126/3 in 18.2 ovs (Dunkley 49; Radha 1/14).

Bhui century piles more misery on North Zone

AGENCIES @ Salem/Coimbatore

BRIEF SCORES: South Zone 630/8 decl in 172.ovs (Hanuma Vihari 134, Ricky Bhui 103 n.o, B Indrajith 65, K Gowtham 48, Mayank Dagar 3/184) vs North Zone 24/0 in 5 ovs. West Zone 259 in 85.4 ovs (Rahul Tripathi 67, Kumar Kartikeya Singh 5/66) & 130/3 in 29 ovs (Shaw 104 batting) vs Central Zone 128 in 40.1 ovs (Tanush Kotian 3/17, Jaydev Unadkat 3/24).

RICKY Bhui made an unbeaten 103 while Baba Aparajith hit a half-century as South Zone posted a massive first innings total of 630/8 before declaring on the second day of their Duleep Trophy semifinal against North Zone at Salem Cricket Foundation on Friday.

In reply, North reached 24/0 at stumps with the Yash Dhull on 8 and Manan Vohra batting on 11, still 606 runs adrift of South's huge first innings score.

In Coimbatore, diminutive opener Prithvi Shaw was in roaring form, hammering an unbeaten 96-ball 104 (11 fours, 3 sixes) as West Zone ended at 130 for three in the second innings to extend their lead against Central Zone to 259 runs.

Resuming at overnight 324/2, the South batters continued to pile on the runs. Captain Hanuma Vihari, who was batting on 107 overnight, extended his partnership with Indrajith (65, 104 balls, 4 fours) to 105 runs before being trapped LBW by left-arm spinner Mayank Dagar (3 for 184).

Indrajith and Manish Pandey (35) added 57 runs for the fourth wicket before the former became Dagar's second scalp. Pandey fell to Dagar at 440 but North's ordeal was not over as Bhui went on the attack, and with support from K Gowtham (48, 72 balls, 4 fours, 2 sixes) and T Ravi Teja (42, 66 balls, 4 fours, 1 six), swelled the South Zone total.

At Coimbatore, West Zone bowlers came to the fore and dismissed Central Zone for 128 in the first innings, a lead of 129 runs after being restricted to 257. The attacking opener then made sure that West took control of proceedings by coming up with a blistering knock. There was virtually no stopping Shaw as he appeared to strike boundaries at will to take the game by the scruff of the neck.

Before the Shaw show, the experienced Jaydev Unadkat (3 for 24) did the early damage while spinner Tanush Kotian picked up three wickets.

INDIA will take on hosts South Africa in their opening game of the inaugural edition of the Women's U-19 World Cup on January 14, 2023 in Benoni. Played in the T20 format, the 16 teams that have qualified are divided into four groups with the top three teams from each group qualifying for the Super 6s. The Super 6s in itself will take place in two groups and the top two teams from the respective pool will progress to the semifinals. The final of the event is all set to take place in Potchefstroom — the other host city for the tournament — on January 30.

India are in Group D with South Africa, Scotland and the United Arab Emirates. Making their debut in a main event of an ICC World Cup would be Indonesia and Rwanda. While Indonesia beat Papua New Guinea in the EAP qualifier, Rwanda trumped Tanzania earlier this week to make it to the World Cup.

While the ICC has confirmed to this daily that there are no restrictions on players who have made their senior debut for their respective countries to take part so long as they clear the basic age and nationality criteria, it seems unlikely that both India internationals Shafali Verma and Richa Ghosh would play in the tournament despite being eligible. The former recently confirmed that she would not be playing in the U19 event. It could be because of the fact that the Women's T20 World Cup begins just about a fortnight after the U19 event in South Africa which will be hosted by Gqeberha, Cape Town and Paarl.

Groupings

Group A: Australia, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka and USA; Group B: England, Pakistan, Rwanda and Zimbabwe; Group C: Indonesia, Ireland, New Zealand and West Indies; Group D: India, Scotland, South Africa and UAE.

The BCCI, in August, had a month-long camp at the National Cricket Academy, Bengaluru with 25 U19 players selected from the zonal camps. Moreover, in the domestic circuit, the selectors will be also keep an eye on U19 Women's T20 tournament that begins on October 1, followed by the U19 T20 Challengers in November. The performances in those tournaments could be vital for players to make it to the final squad.

That said, no restrictions from the ICC means that several younger players from other countries, who've made their senior debuts, could play in the tournament. Alice Capsey (18) and Freya Kemp (17) of England — who've outdone the Indian senior team in the recent T20I series — New Zealand's Georgia Plimmer (18) and Fran Jonas (18), Sri Lanka's Vishmi Gunarathne (17), UAE's Theertha Satish (18) and Vaishnave Mahesh (15) and USA's Geetika Kodali (18) are some of the teenage international stars who are likely to light up the U19 World Cup.

Tennis fans have not been able to keep calm after Swiss player and 20-time Grand Slam winner Roger Federer announced his retirement from professional tennis. City-based players react to this unexpected news

'LOVE', ROGER

MONIKA MONALISA

SHARMADA Balu, who is in Chennai for the Open, was returning to Bengaluru when she got the news of Swiss tennis player and 20-time Grand Slam winner, Roger Federer announcing his retirement from professional tennis on social media after the Laver Cup which will happen between Sept. 23-25.

Needless to say, the die-hard Roger fan was heartbroken. "Everyone knew it was coming, but didn't know when. It was unexpected. Ever since I started playing under-12 tournaments, he has been my idol," says an emotional Balu, who got a chance to meet her the Swiss maestro in 2010 during the Australian Open, while playing the juniors. "I got his autograph. He has given us such amazing matches. It was surreal," recalls Balu.

Even Akshitha Basavaraju reacted similarly. "Apart from being a great tennis player, his connect with people is great. I am glad we are in an era where we can revisit his matches," says Basavaraju, who recalls being starstruck the first time she met him. "I was the winner of the under-14 category in one of the national tournaments and the winners were taken to watch the Australian Open. It was nice to see him live," recalls Basavaraju.

The overwhelming response was on expected lines. As the world was getting over the news of Serena Williams announcing her retirement with the recently-concluded US Open, Federer's announcement caught tennis fans off-guard. "The past three years have presented me with challenges in the form of injuries and surgeries. I've worked hard to return to full competitive form. But I also know my body's capacities and limits, and its message to me lately has been clear. I am 41 years old. I have played more than 1,500 matches over 24 years. Tennis has treated me more generously than I ever would have dreamt, and now I must recognise when it is time to end my competitive career," Federer left a heartwarming message for his fans.

During his career which spans over 20 years, we have seen many great players but it's hard to match Federer. So what made him so admirable? According to tennis player Adil Kalyanpur, it's hard to find a flaw in his game. "Most of the current players grew up admiring him. He has created this brand to perfection, so smooth and fluid. It is very admirable the way he carries himself on court," says Kalyanpur, as he speaks to CE over a call from New Delhi.

LARA DUTTA BHUPATHI

"For me. G.O.A.T forever!!!! Thank you for the memories @rogerfederer . There will be no one like you!! (sic)"

ROHAN BOPANNA

"To share a little space in grandiosity like yours is an honour and very humbling. This is a hard goodbye to say. To witness your journey of being such a respected champion in Tennis is something we will all always try to live upto and continue to be inspired by. Thank you for your courage, your grace, your grit, your sportsmanship and for the way you carried it all... You will be missed (sic)"

FEDAL

Federer's rivalry with Rafeal Nadal has always been spoken about in length and their camaraderie has lifted the game of tennis to a different height. When RaFa left an emotional note for his 'friend and rival', the depth of respect they have for each other came through.

They might have faced each other many times, but the 2008 Wimbledon finals was the one that many feel was the defining match of their rivalry. Wimbledon being Federer's backyard, and with Rafa upping his game, the match turned out to be one of the all-time epic matches ever played. Former city-based tennis player Arjun Goutham, who is currently coaching top players, says the match will stay in his memory as an extraordinary one.

"That was the first time we saw two tennis players really push each other to the limits and sustain it. The match went on for a long time and they kept pushing each other. Nobody was ready to give in even a bit physically, mentally or emotionally. The second time I saw something similar was (Carlos) Alcaraz and (Jannik) Sinner in the Quarterfinals of US Open 2022," explains Goutham.

FEDERER'S INDIA CONNECT

Leander Paes defeated Roger Federer during the Indian Wells Masters back in 2000 with a score of 5-7, 6-1, 6-4. Paes had the Olympic bronze medal and won the Wimbledon doubles title when he faced Federer.

However, it became big news when Sumit Nagal pulled up a shocker at the 2019 US Open by winning a first set against Federer, becoming the first Indian to do that in a Grand Slam. The score went down to 6-4, 1-6, 2-6, 4-6; eventually Federer beat Nagal at the Arthur Ashe stadium, New York.

His first visit to India was in 2006 as UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador after the 2004 Tsunami. He also visited a protection centre for children and orphans in Cuddalore to oversee relief efforts. Federer also took part in an HIV Education Programme when he went to Villupuram.

The second visit to India was for the IPTL's inaugural edition (2014), where he played for the Indian Aces. Federer played two matches at the Indira Gandhi National Indoor Stadium, New Delhi. In the singles, he beat Tomas Berdych and in doubles, he teamed up with Gael Monfils to beat Nenad Zimonjic and Novak Djokovic. Federer partnered with Bengaluru girl Deepika Padukone and played against the pair of Novak Djokovic and Sania Mirza in the all-star match.

Federer's third visit was in 2015 and due to lack of time, he asked his Twitter followers in India to photoshop him around the country. And the outcome turned out to be hilarious.

Dr. P Shyama Raju, Chancellor, REVA University shares insights on his journey from a village boy to the founder of a university as part of the REVA Business School Distinguished Lecture Series held on Friday.

The students and faculty of REVA Business School had an enlightening session about the leadership panache and mentoring skills of Dr. P Shyama Raju, as he spoke in volumes about his journey from a small village boy to the Founder and Chancellor of one of the prestigious universities in India. As part of the RBS Distinguished Lecture Series, Dr. P Shyama Raju, Chancellor of REVA University reminisced on how the journey helped him to be the person he is today.

"I think of myself as merely a facilitator. I came to Bangalore coincidentally. It was just part of my destiny," says Dr. Shyama Raju. From then, he faced his own challenges as he advanced. But it was his unwavering resolve and diligence that enabled him to overcome these challenges and realise his objectives. He first formed Divyasree Developers, and then, after the death of his wife, he founded the REVA group of Institutions.

According to him, the journey was never easy. "I experienced ups and downs. But I never gave up. For me, every opportunity came through the direct intervention of god."

Being a perfectionist himself, he motivated students by emphasising that success in anything you do requires commitment, hard work, and dedication.

"My goal is simple and straightforward. In every area of education, I want REVA University to be a leader and leave its mark," said Dr. Shyama Raju, an ambitious and great mentor who wants REVA to soon rank among the top 500 universities in the world.

Concluding the session, he said that whatever he speaks should be beneficial to society. "I was able to transform lives, and that has been my biggest takeaway so far in my journey. By making a difference in the life of one student, I am making a difference in the whole community and ultimately society."

FIT BIT

TRIPOD DOLPHIN POSE

This pose is a simpler variation of an inversion, and a transition pose for Headstand II. This intermediate level practice helps bring awareness to the neck, shoulders and head, although initially they may use the head the most. While learning to distribute their body weight evenly at the neck, shoulders and head, yoga teachers can guide them to keep their feet wide apart, initially. This gentle balancing pose helps align their body perfectly, before lifting off the feet off the floor for the complete inversion.

STEPS

- First, start with sitting in Vajrasana (Thunderbolt Pose). Make sure that your breathing is normal and well rested.
- After that, place your palms on the ground and then put your head on the ground in a way that your crown touches the ground.
- Then, with the help of your arms, try to straighten your lower body in a way that your legs are straight from your knees and then gently straighten your upper body in a way that your head, neck and the entire back is in a straight line.
- Keep your core engaged all the time and focus on breathing slowly and deeply.
- Hold the pose for 60 seconds to 1 minute then gently bend the knees and slowly come back.
- Rest in Balasana (Child Pose) for 5-6 breaths.

BENEFITS

- It stretches and strengthens the shoulders, arms, back, and lower body.
- Excellent balancing pose to gain confidence.
- Focuses on building strength, stability, and flexibility in the spine, hamstrings, calves and arches.
- Helps to lengthen and stretch the leg muscles.
- Helps improve memory, awareness and focus.
- Strengthens the upper body while stretching the lower body.
- Reduces fatigue, depression and insomnia.
- Stimulates the nervous system, and provides relief from stress and anxiety.
- Improves blood circulation in the upper body
- Improves digestion and accelerates metabolism.
- Improves heart functioning.
- Beneficial to women with symptoms related to menopause as it helps in stabilising energy (prana) levels.

LIMITATIONS

People who have injuries or recent surgeries in shoulders, neck, head, back or hips, and eye or ear infections, avoid this.

People with high blood pressure should first consult a yoga expert before attempting the pose.

Women should avoid it during pregnancy.

By N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

TROPICAL FRUITS AND REGULAR SPICES IN COCKTAILS

MIXOLOGY
Vijay Purty

(The writer is senior mixologist - Foxtrot)

COLOURS and looks play a major role in our everyday life. Visuals are a very important part of everything that is viewed. For instance, fruity drinks look attractive because they are very colourful, and herbal or spiced drinks look more earthy. The responsibility of balancing both the look and the taste of a drink, naturally falls on the mixologist, and a fine balance has to be found as too much fruitiness dilutes the alcohol and too much of spices will overpower the whole drink. The challenge is to make an exceptional drink that also looks visually appealing. Quite often, fresh herbs can simply be muddled into the drink. Some drink recipes require an infusion into the base spirit, and you can always add flavour or colour to the drink. All these techniques are surprisingly easy, and you'll be amazed at how simple it is to create fascinating drinks.

Here are a couple of my favourite recipes

ROSEMARY AND GIN GRAPEFRUIT COCKTAIL

- Gin 60 ml (infused for minimum 1 hr with 5 gm cinnamon stick & 1 star anise)
- Grapefruit juice 90 ml
- Lime juice 15 ml
- Rosemary simple syrup 25 ml
- Club soda to top up

- Start by making the syrup by adding a few sprigs of rosemary to sugar syrup and bring to a boil, allow the mixture to cool with the rosemary still in.
- Rim the glass with lime juice and salt. Stir the ingredients except soda in a mixing glass and stir with ice. Strain into the rimmed glass and top up with soda. Garnish with a grapefruit slice & rosemary sprig.

VODKA BEETROOT KAVAS

- Infused Vodka 60 ml
- Black salt 1 tsp
- Lime juice 30 ml
- Sugar syrup 30 ml
- Soda 90 ml

Ingredients for infused vodka

- Vodka 300 ml
- Beetroots 100gm finely sliced
- Carrots 100 gm finely sliced
- Red chilli powder ½ tsp
- Black peppercorns ½ tsp
- Yellow mustard seeds ½ tsp

- For infusing the vodka, put all the ingredients in a glass jar and keep it in a dry & cool place for 24 hrs. Strain the mixture into a bottle and place in the refrigerator where it can last for around a month.
- Fill a tall glass with ice, add black salt, lime juice, sugar syrup & soda. Stir the mixture well and add the infused vodka on top. Garnish with lime slice & fresh mint sprig.

Intense love notes with a soulful climax

A SHARADHAA

HOW do you fall in love almost all your life? And how do you sustain such love with all the hurdles? Pushpaka Vimana director Ravindranath's second outing, Monsoon Raaga, tries to throw light on love and weaves together the romantic tales of four couples to give us an interesting and sincere film.

Monsoon Raaga deals with childhood love (Sundara and Suchitra), teenage love (Joseph and Raga Sudha), pure love (Katte and Asma), and a mature love (Raju and Hasini). Each of these love stories are placed in different time periods. Monsoon Raaga is a moving tale that is based in Dakshina Kannada and its rain-soaked atmosphere accentuated by the battering sea waves.

Through the unique way of presenting a love story of four age groups, Monsoon Raaga addresses a few social issues ranging from existing belief systems, religion, faith, and even the hierarchy in government offices. The social issues are interwoven in layers of beautiful storytelling, surprise elements, and a sweet climax, which highlights the acceptance of women's conduct in society, and poses questions about the institution of marriage.

MONSOON RAAGA

Cast: Dhananjay, Rachita Ram, Acyuth Kumar, Suhasini, Yasha Shivakumar, Shivank, Nihal and Sinchana

Director: S Ravindranath

Monsoon Raaga is not a typical hero-heroine film, and everyone has played their characters well. Dhananjay, usually portrayed as a mass hero, has lived up to the role of a mature lover, Katte, and tries to reinvent himself with a different role. Rachita Ram plays her part well, and her role as a sex worker is neatly handled.

RATING 3/5

Veteran actors Achyuth Kumar and Suhasini play heartwarming roles and express the love that blossoms after 40. Suhasini's character speaks Telugu in the film, which touches upon the language barriers in love. While Yasha Shivakumar is excellent as Raga Sudha, Shivank could have given more life to Joseph. The school love story of Sundara and Suchitra (Nihal and Sinchana) is the cutest episode in the entire movie. Lakshmi, a new talent, is featured in a role that gives a twist to the whole story. Other than that, Shobharaj, Sridhar, Sashidhar, Raghu Gowda, and Bro Gowda smartly handle their characters.

One of the biggest strengths of the film is its soulful music composed by Anoop Seelin, which also helps in a smooth narration. Rain plays an important part of the haunting background score of the film. The locations help to keep the film real, and cinematographer SK Rao has captured the emotions through the various settings. The thought-provoking and heart-to-heart conversations written by Guru Kashyap put a smile on our faces. His untimely demise is truly an irreparable loss to the Kannada film industry. Ravindranath, who has been inspired by love-based subjects has paid a lot of attention to the making and brings in his signature style of conversational romance. Monsoon Raaga is a slow-moving film that does create some confusion in the beginning, however, the characters steal the show. In a nutshell, Monsoon Raaga makes for a realistic experience for romantic hearts.

Guru Shishyaru will become a benchmark in Kannada cinema

...says Nishvika, as she talks about the efforts she put into the role as a villager in this kho-kho-based film, and more

Nishvika

A SHARADHAA

A FEW-films-old Nishvika is definitely focused on taking up memorable characters that will stand the test of time. Citing her upcoming film, Guru Shishyaru, which has her playing a role of a villager for the first time, Nishvika says that it was a character she could not take for granted. "I'm at a stage of my career where I want to experiment with roles. Every character coming to me should be a challenge. There is no point in doing the same old thing. Though I don't have a lengthy list of films, I have always tried to do new roles, and even managed to look different in each film," says Nishvika ahead of the film's release next week.

Directed by Jadeshaa K Hampi, Guru Shishyaru marks Nishvika's first film with Sharan. "As far as I know, a film based on a game of kho-kho has not been made on the silver screen, especially in Kannada. That way, I'm glad to be part of Guru Shishyaru, which will become a benchmark in Kannada cinema," she says.

Nishvika is not just playing a rural character but also a crazy fan of Crazy Star Ravichandran. In fact, she had to tick the checklist that was put forth by the project's creative head and co-producer, Tharun Kishore Sudhir. "My role as Sooji is multi-layered. The way I talk and behave mattered a lot. I had to fit into the character. I lost a lot of weight, worked on my appearance, and my body language had to reflect the village lifestyle. I also had to speak in the dialect of that belt. Sooji is a working lady, who runs a dairy farm. It took an effort to go cycling in the traditional costumes. Today people who have watched the song and the rushes are giving me good feedback, and my efforts have paid off," says Nishvika.

Sharing her experience working with actor Sharan, Nishvika was happy about the rapport she shared with him. Nishvika also expressed her enthusiasm about working with upcoming talents and child artistes. "Working with them, I felt they pushed me to do better. They acted like cheerleaders, and I was surrounded by them each time I gave a shot," she says.

ALTERNATES BETWEEN HOLLOW AND HARROWING

SHILAJIT MITRA

FIRST features can feel more affected and ambitious than they're ever intended to be. This is especially true of directors who have already cut teeth in other departments of the cinematic art. Manish Mundra—trailblazing producer of prize-winning films, from Masaan and Ankhon Dekhi to Newton and Ramprasad Ki Tervi—has now directed Siya, a film about rape and violence in Uttar Pradesh. Manish begins with naturalism, capturing dusty sunsets and fields abuzz with the noise of crickets. Soon, though, he makes an artful swerve, and the 'film festival' alarm bells start ringing.

A permanent horror hangs on the face of Sita Singh (Pooja Pandey), who's abducted, beaten and gang-raped by four men.

SIYA

Cast: Pooja Pandey, Vineet Kumar

Director: Manish Mundra

She is rescued seven or eight days after her parents first approached the authorities. Police apathy abounds—"You'll be disgraced," the station incharge warns, declining to file a First Information Report. Sita, too, appears resigned to this fate; it takes a while before she opens up to Mahender (Vineet Kumar), a family friend with a law degree, and pledges her will to fight.

In 2017, a 17-year-old girl was gang-raped in Unnao in UP. Siya draws heavily from that incident—barring a crucial detail, an attempt by the victim to immolate herself outside the Chief Minister's residence, which catapulted the case to national attention. Likewise, any references to Hathras (we see a body forcibly cremated in the dead of the night, while the main perpetrator belongs to the dominant Thakur caste) are kept to a bare minimum. Manish, it appears at times, is playing safe by depoliticizing the subject of rape. After all, rapes happen everywhere irrespective of state, caste or creed. But these crimes were directly linked to the contexts they were unfolding in—and to ignore them is to miss a crucial piece of the pathology Manish is seemingly probing (a film that avoided this problem and still made it to theatres was Article 15).

Siya's impact isn't helped much by its visual grammar. There are slow, contemplative pans and dollies, often ending with a close-up of the victim's face. We see ants crawling on her restraining chains. A dream sequence emphasizing Sita's pain and trauma plays out like a bad street play. The exact sequence of her abuse is chopped up and relayed non-linearly. It's a weird way to structure a film about sexual abuse—giving it the dimensions of a whodunit thriller.

RATING 2.5/5

There is, however, one moment of beauty and grace. At a river's edge, Mahender and Siya are immersing her deceased father's ashes. Just then, they hear gunshots and duck. The hopelessness of the scene is alleviated by a lone boat drawing in and ferrying them to rescue.
